'Flu' Spreads in State

12,000 Reported Stricken

HARRISBURG (UP)—State and county health officials today kept close check on an estimated 12,000 Pennsylvanians reported stricken with an "influenza type" virus.

The virus has followed a "spotty" pattern, affecting mostly school children and college students at opposite ends of the state.

Westmoreland, Allegheny, Beaver and Indiana counties were hit hardest in the west, while Northampton and Delaware counties reported virus illnesses in the eastern portion. Elsewhere school attendance has remained normal and no outbreaks were reported up to late Thursday.

The state Health Department has sent virus strains to laboratories to determine definitely if the influenza is the Asian type, one of nine known to man.

Along the extreme eastern border only Delaware County reported illness, and then only at Radnor high school where nearly one half of the 1,200 enrollment was absent. Chester reported 1,500 students absent in the city school system but said the rate was "average" for this time of year.

Authorities Differ

At the opposite end of the state Monessen closed its schools until Monday because of abnormal absentecism. The Allegheny County Board of Health called a special meeting to get up-to-date illness figures with about 5,000 cases already reported in the county.

Health officials also differed on whether the outbreaks are influenza, colds or grippe. A regional state medical director said the outbreak at Radnor high school was from colds and grippe and that no samples were necessary to determine if the disease was Asian flu.

Another state official said an outbreak at Indiana State Teachers College which struck almost half of the student body appeared to be Asian flu. But he emphasized the Health Department was awaiting results of laboratory tests.

Meanwhile, officials agreed the illness was mild, lasts from two to four days and has a baffling incidence pattern. The general medical advice was "treat the symptoms, notify the family physician for his advice and don't become alarmed."

Auditor General Charles C. Smith authorized about 1,700 firemen's relief associations in the Commonwealth to dip into their funds to provide inoculations against Asian flu for their members.

The funds are obtained on the basis of the 2 per cent tax on the premiums on all fire insurance written in Pennsylvania by out-of-state companies.

Smith said he authorized the expenditure because "the valuable protection afforded by the firemen is extremely vital to the citizens of the Commonwealth." He told the associations it would be necessary to keep accurate records of the persons inoculated, the date, and the charge made.

Clergymen Working In Little Rock to Help with Problem

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UP) — A dedicated group of 50 clergymen worked in union today to weld the churchgoers of Little Rock into a powerful moral force that can replace armed soldiers as custodians of peace and order.

Officials hoped the efforts of the church leaders, combined with those of a group of 25 business and professional men, would prove the turning point in Little Rock's quarrel with the law of the land.

A break in their efforts may have been provided by the hotheads themselves when white student agitators staged a walkout at troubled Central High School Thursday. School officials believe things will go smoother as long as the troublemakers stay out.

Endorsed By Ike

The peace movement, which has the hopeful endorsement of President Eisenhower, aims to restore the peace so that 101st Airborne troops may be moved out of Little Rock with an assurance of no more trouble.

"This is a major step toward mobilizing the moral and spiritual resources of Little Rock to achieve a peaceful solution of the crisis," Congressman Brooks Hays (D-Ark.) said.

Hays is active in both movements. He also is president of the Southern Baptist Convention, which represents 9,000,000 Baptists.

The Rt. Rev. Robert R. Brown, episcopal bishop of Arkansas, who is promoting the church movement, said he hopes both movements will merge.

Okayed By Faubus

Gov. Orval E. Faubus praised the churchmen's plans and especially their decision to hold a city-wide day of prayer for peace on Oct. 12.

Military leaders believed most student troublemakers separated themselves Thursday in an abortive walkout and effigy-burning.

All of the approximately 40 students who walked out and about 100 who waited for them in front of Central faced three-day to two week suspensions. Some may be permanently expelled.

With 60 paratroopers inside the school and a company enforcing federalized National Guards on the school grounds, there was no molestation of Negro students Thursday.

There were these other developments in the Little Rock situation:

—President Eisenhower disclosed that he rejected the statement of Gov. Orval E. Faubus, which might have sealed the agreement to withdraw federal troops negotiated by other Southern governors at the White House, because Faubus used the words "As I have intended from the beginning." Under that situation, the President said, the National Guard still had orders to keep the Negro students out of school.

—The Justice Department indicated it has a quantity of evidence on racial agitation in Little Rock. But it won't make it public at present despite Maryland Gov.

Firemen First, Pickets Second

BROWNSVILLE, Pa. UP. — Pickets at the General Chemical Co. plant, at nearby Newell never forget they are volunteer firemen.

When a small fire broke out at the plant Thursday, the pickets ran to the firehouse, obtained equipment and doused the blaze in a few minutes.

Then they returned to the picket line.

No Demonstration At Central High School Today

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UP)—Nine Negro students entered Central High School under troop guard today and for the first time, there was no demonstration from white students watching their arrival.

As usual, about 50 white students were congregated on the steps leading to the main entrance when the Negroes arrived in an Army station wagon convoyed by jeeploads of troops.

On previous days, the white students have greeted the Negroes' arrival with a noisy outburst, some booting and jeering, others clapping and shouting encouragement.

One white student told reporters that Central High Principal Jess Matthews had issued a stern warning against any further demonstrations on the steps.

Another factor in the subdued situation was the absence of about 40 white students who were suspended for taking part in a "walk-out" from the school Thursday. School officials felt that this exodus had removed the most aggressive teen-age agitators from the student body.

Trading Stamps Ruled Lawful

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Federal Trade Commission says trading stamps are lawful, but it may crack down on trading stamp companies which engage in illegal practices."

The commission said that trading stamps "in themselves" are not an unfair means of competition among businessmen and are ot a deceptive business practice, therefore it will not issue complaints "at this time" to prohibit the use of the stamps.

The commission said its decison Thursday was based on a year-long study of the matter. More than 300 firms are making and distributing trading stamps which buyers exchange for merchandise and their "popularity is unprecedented," the commission said.

School to Resume Monday

Satisfied that the current "influenza-type" epidemic has run its course, Monessen school officials announced today that all classes will resume Monday mornning.

Dr. Joseph Pallone, superintendent of city schools, said he has been advised that the week's rest should have provided ailing students with sufficient time to recover.

"We anticipate almost normal enrollment when classes resume Monday," said Dr. Pallone. "It would appear as though the epidemic has been definitely curbed in the city."

The Monessen school superintendent said he was "completely satisfied" with the cooperation received from the students, parents and city officials.

"I have seen very few students on the streets," pointed out Dr. Pallone. "Practically all of them have taken our advice to stay indoors and rest."

Praises City Officials

Dr. Pallone also had praise for city officials who saw to it that most public gatherings were canceled the past week.

"And let me say another thing," said Dr. Pallone. "I don't think much of these reports which infer students are staying home because of the World Series."

Added Dr. Pallone:

"Our students were sick and I resent implications otherwise. I doon't know why such an effort is being made to cover up the extent of the sickness even though I agree there is no cause for alarm."

All Monessen public schools were dismissed last Tuesday. The Junior-Senior High school students were also sent home on Monday.

Dr. Pallone said that three school days will have to be made up sometime later in the year.

Health Officials 'Concerned' Over Outbreak of Flu

WASHINGTON (UP)—Public Health Service officials expressed "concern" today over large scale local outbreaks of Asian flu but said the disease had not yet become a nationwide epidemic.

Some officials believed that New York City, hard hit by the disease may be in for a month-long flu siege.

One PHS official said "There is not going to be enough flu vaccine available to do a whole lot of good" now in New York, Milwaukee and other areas where large numbers of flu cases are reported.

"It looks as if the flu beat vaccine production to the draw," he said. "Manufacturers are turning out vaccine as fast as they can but the flu won't wait."

A PHS spokesman said there has been no change in the virulence of the disease.

"It is not a killing flu," the spokesman said. He added there were only some 15 deaths associated with it, generally from aftereffects.

In Defiance of AFL-CIO, Courts, Senate Probers

BULLETIN

MIAMI BEACH (UP) — A roaring convention voted James R. Hoffa into the presidency of the big international Teamsters Union today in defiance of the AFL-CIO, the courts and Senate investigators.

MIAMI BEACH (UP) — Outgoing President Dave Beck quieted a screaming Teamster convention today and called at 9:47 a. m. (E.S.T.) for the election of a new president who is expected to be dapper James R. Hoffa.

Thomas J. Haggerty of Chicago was the first candidate for president placed in nomination. He was to be followed by Hoffa of Detroit, and William A. Lee of Chicago, in alphabetical order.

The voting for president started at 10:16 a.m. (e.s.t.)

Beck, exerting iron-fisted control over the shouting delegates, limited the nominating speeches to five minutes each and allowed each candidate only one. He also said there would be only two seconding speeches for each candidate and these would be limited to 30 seconds.

Beck banged his gavel viciously and ordered 20 sergeants-at-arms stationed at various places on the convention floor to see that no demonstrations are held for any candidate. He remarked that all delegates "have made up their minds who they will vote for anyway."

English Nominates Hoffa

Teamster Secretary - Treasurer John F. English placed Hoffa's name in nomination and told the delegates not to worry "just because there is a little trouble going on here and there."

English, interrupted by rousing cheers, said Hoffa "will take care of that and let us take care of Hoffa."

The 68-year-old secretary-treasurer said that Hoffa was the "champion of the Teamsters" and said the Midwest Teamsters boss has done more than anyone in the union, "including myself."

English said the presidency was no easy job and added "now is the time to show Jimmy your appreciation for what he has done for you."

English said that "people from the FBI, the Senate Rackets Committee and the AFL-CIO are watching us" during the convention. He indicated he felt the FBI men were present in the hall. He asked for a large vote of confidence so Hoffa can take it to the AFL-CIO in an effort to prevent expulsion from the federation on corruption charges.

Retaliation Almost Certain

Hoffa faced almost certain retaliation from the massive AFL-CIO labor combine to which the Teamsters belong. But he was confident he could avoid expulsion of his union from the federation despite his election in defiance of an AFL-CIO ultimatum.

English, a personal friend backed Hoffa, was almost certain to win re-election as secretary-treasurer of the union. Thirteen vice-presidents, two more than at present due to a change in the union constitution, three trustees and other officers were also to be elected.

Cool Air, Frost to Continue in District

A high pressure area centered over the Great Lakes sent cool air over the district last night, tumbling temperatures.

At U. S. Lock No. 4, Monessen, the temperature at 7 a. m. today was 44 degrees. By 11. a. m., it had climbed to 54.

The high pressure system was expected to continue to feed cool air throughout the weekend.

Mostly fair and sunny skies were predicted for both Saturday and Sunday. A high in the 60's was expected for today.

Little change in temperature is anticipated on Saturday or Sunday.

Some scattered frost and lowest temperatures of in the 30's were predicted for tonight in the northern portions and the low 40's in the southeast.

A spokesman at Lock No. 4 also reported that the Monongahela River has receded to a reading of 14.4 at the upper gauge and 10.6 at the lower gauge. That's about as low as it can go and still be navigable.

Wintry Weather

Wintry weather made its first appearance in the western part of the nation today, complete with scattered snow flurries which dumped a five-inch snow blanket at Mullen Pass, Idaho.

Icy winds swept one to two inches of snow across western Montana and northern Idaho during the night and Drummond, Mont., reported a three-inch accumulation.

Readings ranged from the 20s in the northern Rockies to the 30s as far south as southern Nevada and northwestern Utah.

The southeast was plagued by continuing rain, drizzle and thunderstorms. The precipitation belt extended from Mississippi east to the Carolinas and from Tennessee south through Florida.

Forecasters predicted rain mixed with snow today in the northern plains and the northern and central Rockies and showers in the southern Rockies and parts of the Central Plains.

More rain also is seen for the Southeast, extending as far north as the Ohio Valley.

School Liaison Council Meets; Illness Discussed

Dr. Joseph J. Pallone, superintendent of Monessen Schools who has just returned from a superintendent's meeting in Harrisburg, discussed with members of the Liaison Council the illness among students and other matters at a meeting held last night.

The session in the superintendent's office was conducted by the president, Mrs. John Stieska.

Dr. Pallone explained his reasons for closing the schools and pointed out the views of other superintendents in similar instances.

The council also discussed the student curfew and possibilities of enforcing it.

High School Principal Henry Furio discussed the importance of Business-Industry Education Day in which 156 persons affiliated with the Monessen School District will take part.

Parents were urged to encourage their children to participate in two essay contests: Thrift Week and Fire Prevention. The latter contest is expressly for sixth, seventh, and eighth grade students.

Ed Lhota, who is chairman of the Halloween parade to be staged here on Oct. 31, announced that as in the past few years the students would be invited to participate in a window painting contest before the big event.

The revised Liaison Council constitution was read for the third time and adopted. Minor school problems and their solutions were discussed for the remainder of the session.

Catholic Diocese Needs $35 Million For New Schools

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Roman Catholic Diocese of Pittsburgh, embracing six counties, will have to spend 35 million dollars for new schools before 1962 to meet anticipated needs, it was disclosed today.

In an annual report, the diocese also said it will face the need for new teachers to handle the expected increase in school population.

It estimated 100 new teachers and 100 new classrooms will be needed each year.

Enrollment in diocesan schools totaled 109,869 as of last June. In the next three years this was expected to be increased by 15,000.

Diocesan school population has grown from 71,789 in 1942, when the diocese embraced 10 counties, to the 109,869 for the present six-county diocese. Four counties were separated when the Greensburg Diocese was formed in 1951.

Since 1953, the diocese has built 27 new elementary schools and 5 new secondary schools.

Veterans Day Observance in California, Pa.

Tentative plans for the observance of Veterans Day in the Mongahela Valley were discussed last night at a meeting held in the Charleroi American Legion home.

The affair, which is held annually in one of six valley communities, will be held this year in California.

A big military parade is scheduled along with several other activities. The parade will get under way promptly at 4 p. m., the committee says.

Valley communities taking part in the observance will be in addition to California, Monessen, Charleroi, Donora, Belle Vernon and Monongahela.

More than $500 in cash prizes will be distributed to parade winners.

Hunters Warned Of Dry Forests

A warning to bow-and-arrow hunters to use extreme caution when entering "bone dry" district forests was issued today by Francis Beatty, state forest inspector for the Uniontown district.

The inspector pointed out that opening of the bow-and-arrow hunting season tomorrow will send a flock of sportsmen, including many from Monessen, into woodlands that have been left tinder dry from lack of rain this summer and fall.

He asked hunters to be careful with matches, fires and smoking.

Carroll Annexation Dispute With Donora Recessed by Court

The annexation dispute in Washington County Court between Donora and Carroll Twp. has been recessed until next Wednesday.

Judge David H. Weiner, who is taking the record in the case, ordered the recess following yesterday's long and involved hearing.

The case, which opened on Monday, has developed into a person-by-person survey of signatures on the annexation petitions.

After four days of hearings, it appeared as though the court will have to decide two basic questions: The first will be whether there are enough valid signatures on the petitions and the other will be whether the borough of Donora has a right to begin annexation proceedings at this time.

Involved are about 200 acres in Carroll Twp. adjoining the borough. A previous effort by Donora to annex the land failed when the court found that certain technical requirements were not met.

The borough has filed lists of freeholders numbering 288 and claims 191 valid signatures. This would be more than the half required under law.

However both lists are under attack by township attorneys who plan to study the lists during the recess.

The court must also determine if a five-year moratorium on annexation proceedings exists in this case. This is the second attempt in as many years by Donora to annex the land.

Counsel for Donora has argued that the moratorium does not apply in this instance because the previous annexation attempt was disallowed for technical reasons.

The routine testimony and checking of the lists during the hearing has been enlivened only by some acrimonious exchanges between opposing counsel, Clarence DeVore for the township and Solicitor A. J. DeMedio for the Borough.

Files Appeal To Suspension Of Drivers Card

A Carroll Twp. man has filed an appeal in Washington County court to a suspension of his operator's license by the state Highway Department.

Guy Vignoli, Valley Inn, said in his appeal that his license was suspended for one year, beginning Sept. 17, on the charge "violation repeater."

Vignoli, who is a truck driver, claims the section of the act cited by the Bureau of Highway Safety does not provide for suspension for the reason given. He also claims that he was not summoned to a hearing by the department to answer the charge.

The court has granted the appeal and has set Nov. 25 as the time for a hearing.

Irene Dunne Makes Her UN Debut Today

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—The United States treated the United Nations to some unaccustomed Hollywood glamor today. It assigned actress Irene Dunne to make her speaking debut before the General Assembly.

Miss Dunne was to go before the 81-nation body to announce how much the United States would contribute toward the 52 million dollars the United Nations needs for its two principal refugee programs.

Miss Dunne, still beautiful at 52, was appointed to the U.S. delegation to the United Nations by President Eisenhower in August.

She has participated in committee meetings since the General Assembly session opened last month but this was her first appearance before the General Assembly.

Her selection to such an important diplomatic post was not a complete surprise. She is an active member of the Roman Catholic laity and has been tabbed as Hollywood's first "real lady."

Today's meeting was an abrupt change from Thursday's session in which Egypt and Iraq warned against Western "interference" in Syria and France cautioned against United Nations involvement in Algeria.

French Ambassador Guillaume Georges-Picot told the assembly that French withdrawal from Algeria would unleash anarchy and "probably" civil war. He asked the United Nations to give France more time to work out the problem.

Ike's 'Neighbors' to Pay Visit to Europe

HARRISBURG (UP) — More than 200 of President Eisenhower's Gettysburg "neighbors" will pay an informal visit to six European countries in line with the President's "People-to-People" program.

The travelers, central Pennsylvanians from all walks of life, will visit London, Amsterdam, Cologne, Lucerne, Rome, Milan and Paris.

Organized by the Harrisburg Pa. Patriot, the friendship visit to Europe was conceived to further understanding between Americans and the people of Europe.

President Eisenhower said in a telegram from the White House:

"The promotion of international understanding through direct contacts between peoples is a most promising development in world affairs. In this spirit, I congratulate the Patriot for sponsoring a goodwill visit to Europe, and I wish you all a pleasant and rewarding journey."

The tour is one of the first and biggest of its kind organized under the President's project.

Officials pointed out the travelers 'truly represent a cross section of American life. They are the kind who ordinarily wouldn't travel abroad. They are sincerely anxious to meet their European counterparts as well as get a glimpse of the countries their forefathers left behind to found the New World."

Representative Group

The group includes men, women and children of various religions, races and national origins. Their occupations range from doctors and nurses to steelworkers and stenographers.

Representing the sponsoring newspaper will be Tom Espenshade, a 15-year-old carrier boy from Elizabethtown who was chosen for the role from among the paper's 1,800 carrier boys.

The Patriot will publish a special edition for London and Amsterdam in English, one for Cologne and Lucerne in German, one for Rome in Italian and one for Paris, in French. The editions which depict central Pennsylvania life and people, will be delivered to the cities by Trans-World Airlines and will be distributed by the friendship group at the various stops. The special section will be part of the regular issue of The Patriot.

The group will travel with the endorsement of Charles E. Wilson, president of the People-to-People Foundation, New York.

Wilson said "your work is another evidence of the interest of the American people in international understanding and friendship."

Bandit Crushed Under Car by Would-be Victim

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A man who allegedly tried to hold up a motorist early today was injured seriously when the intended victim's automobile crushed him against a wall.

Doctors at St. Joseph's Hospital amputated the left leg of the injured man, identified by police as Milton Rappaport, 48, of Detroit, Mich. Rappaport's right leg also was crushed.

Police said Rappaport, who had been living in a hotel here recently, had a long police record. They said he would be charged with attempted robbery and violation of the firearms act.

Sylvester Joswiak told police Rappaport walked up to his car in his driveway just as he started the engine, jerked open the car door and said, "Stick 'em up." He said Rappaport had a gun.

Joswiak said he put the car in reverse and went backward across the street, dragging Rappaport until the car crashed into a brick retaining wall.

Police said Rappaport's record dated back to 1930 and included arrests for robbery, forgery and firearms violations. They said he had been arrested in Pittsburgh, Detroit and Jackson, Mich.

Rappaport sometimes used the name, Milton Laskin, police said.

P&LE Cancellation Of Commuter Trains

Trains 46 and 47 will make additional stops between Youngstown, Ohio, and Pittsburgh to protect passengers who now ride Trains 35 and 36.

Posse Organized In Search for Youngstown Man

CADIZ, Ohio (UP)—A posse was organized today to search for a missing Youngstown drug salesman in the Ohio Valley area, but authorities held little hope he was alive.

Indications that Don McPhee, 32, who made calls here earlier Thursday, met with foul play came when his car and the body of a man wearing his clothing and carrying his billfold were found at Tappen Lake, about eight miles north of Cadiz Thursday afternoon.

The automobile was submerged in the lake and the body of a man identified as Clarence R. Dowdell, 23, of nearby Scio, Ohio, was found next to the vehicle.

Authorities theorized Dowdell waylaid McPhee and stole his car, clothing, money and identification papers, then died when the car went off U.S. 250.

An attempt by authorities to locate McPhee at his Youngstown home proved fruitless. They learned the salesman, father of three children, had intended to continue on to Urichsville, Ohio, some 25 miles away, after stopping at Cadiz.

A passing truck driver saw the McPhee car go into the lake. The unidentified trucker said he shouted to the driver to get on the car roof, but the man failed to follow his advice.

National President Mrs. Rollin Brown of Los Angeles, Calif., will deliver the keynote address on Monday evening. She has served the PTA in many capacities on a national level, and last year attended the Japan National Congress of PTA.

Gov. George M Leader will address the guests at the opening banquet and prominent educators will take part in the three day program.

Auerbach, a native of New York, died Thursday of a heart condition at West Valley Hospital. He had been admitted to the hospital Wednesday as an emergency case.

Ike to Visit Farm

WASHINGTON (UP) — The White House said today that President Eisenhower will fly to Gettysburg, Pa., today to spend the weekend at his farm.

Knowland Officially in Race for Governorship

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UP)—Is U.S. Sen. William F. Knowland running for governor of California or president of the United States?

That was the main issue today between Knowland and fellow Republican Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, who will meet next June in a crucial election to determine the Republican king-pin in the nation's second largest state.

In his formal announcement of candidacy for governor Thursday, Knowland pledged that it was his intention, if elected, to "devote myself faithfully to the administration of the duties of the office for the term or terms to which I might be elected."

But later, at a news conference, he left himself a loophole which could conceivably permit him to seek the GOP presidential nomination in 1960 or 1964.

Asked if his statement that he would serve out his gubernatorial term if elected, which would not end until January, 1963, was a "Sherman - like" declaration Knowland hedged.

(Sherman was Gen William T. Sherman who once said "If nominated for president I will not run If elected I will not serve.")

"No," Knowland said "No one has a crystal ball as to 1960 or 1964."

Knight seized upon this as an indication that Knowland wants the governorship only because it would be a stepping stone to the presidential nomination.

"Senator Knowland's carefully worded statement is properly assessed by all who heard it as a thinly disguised invitation to his later 'draft' for the presidential nomination in 1960," said Knight.

Sabbath Day Group Re-elects Top Officers

CLEARFIELD, Pa. (UP)—The Pennsylvania State Sabbath Day Association re-elected its top officers Thursday and cited several counties for their Sunday School activities.

The Rev. Clyde W Meadows of Chambersburg was re-elected president.

Other officers re-elected were: Leo H. McKay, Sharon, and Charles A. Spellman Jr., West Chester, vice presidents; Julian F Ulmer, Pottsville, secretary; Benjamin H. Wolfe, Harrisburg, treasurer, and Oscar L Lingle, Harrisburg, assistant treasurer.

Delegates to the association's annual convention also re-elected eight directors to three - year terms They were H B Alexander, Harrisburg; Charles S. Drain, Philadelphia; the Rev. Franklin Duncombe, Bala-Cynwyd; Dr. W R. Heton, Philipsburg; J.W. Leinbach, Reading; R. G. Mowrey Chambersburg, John L. Pandel, Burnham, and the Rev. Monroe J Shearer Sr., Quincy.

Fayette, Huntingdon, Somerset and Venango counties were cited for their attainment in Sunday School activities.

Counties cited for attainment and growth in Sunday School activities were Adams, Armstrong Beaver, Berks, Clarion, Dauphin, Franklin, Juniata, Lycoming, Sullivan, Tioga and Westmoreland.

B. McClain Cochran, general state secretary of the association presented the awards.

At the close of the convention Thursday night, more than 2,000 Pennsylvania teen-agers attended a youth meeting addressed by the Rev. Richard R. Gilbert, of New York, secretary of youth evangelism for the Board of National Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the USA.

was favored to sweep into office with him.

The 1,753 delegates, many of them seated in the face of Senate Racket Committee charges the convention was rigged to elect Hoffa, have turned the meeting hall for the past two days into a circus scene with their demonstrations for the 5-foot-five Detroiter.

Opponents Far Outnumbered

Marching, shouting and stomping rhythmically through the convention hall with red and white signs, banners, hats and New Year's noisemakers, Hoffa's supporters among the brawny truckers who make up the Teamsters far outnumbered his opponents — Thomas Haggerty and Teamster Vice President William A. Lee, both of Chicago.

When a third presidential candidate, Thomas J. Hickey of New York, pulled out of the race Thursday and urged his backers to vote for Lee, Hoffa forces claimed it was the "clincher" because most of the released delegates swung to the 4-year-old Detroiter.

But both Lee and Haggerty were confident up to the time balloting began they could block Hoffa on the first ballot and combine forces to whip him on the second.

Plane Ditches with 13 Persons Aboard

AGANA, Guam (UP)—A United States Air Force C47 with 13 persons aboard, including author James Mitchener, ditched today in the Pacific Ocean three miles north of Iwo Jima.

The Air Force said that all persons were rescued without injury.

The plane was forced to ditch shortly after taking off from Iwo Jima for Japan.

which dismissed classes yesterday, will also resume Monday. The city's other parochial schools have remained in session throughout the week.

For the most part, the epidemic — which it now appears will eventually be labelled as the Asian flu — has been confined to students in the Monessen-Rostraver district.

At Rostraver, schools remained in session but about 40 per cent of the students missed classes in secondary grades this week.

Children in Bellmarette, Donora and Charleroi have so far escaped the brunt of the epidemic. However absenteeism was reported mounting in Monongahela and Brownsville.

The epidemic has affected some adults but had made no dent on production at district industries.

Several Monessen cases were forwarded to Philadelphia last week for laboratory analysis. However the tests require almost two weeks to determine the nature of the virus.

Grove City in Homecoming Day

Texan Takes Off In Attempt to Fly 5,683 Miles

GALVESTON, Tex. (UP)—After a few ordinary delays of the type which hold up family picnics, William Wyatt took off in a single-engine plane Thursday in an attempt to fly 5,683 miles non-stop to Rome.

Wyatt, 25, planned to get off at dawn Thursday. However, a series of delays held him back until nearly 1 p.m. when he lifted his Mark 20 "City of Galveston" into the air and started his attempt to break the record for distance non-stop in a small plane.

The Dallas flight instructor hopes to reach Rome Saturday.

He will be flying on much the same route used by Col. Charles Lindbergh 30 years ago, although he has radios and modern electronic equipment to aid him. He has an automatic pilot to enable him to doze during the trip.

However, he took an alarm clock to wake him up to check the automatic pilot. The plane was 1,035 pounds overweight due to its extra equipment and 258 gallons of gas

A barograph, an instrument used in officially recording a record-setting attempt, held up the flight for four hours when it failed to arrive on time.

Someone forgot international customs clearance and it took another hour to get that cleared.

Wyatt was the last to arrive loaded with his clock, four sandwiches, orange and tomato juice and a jug of coffee.

Students Riot in Warsaw

WARSAW, Poland (UP)—Defiant students threatened today continuation of Thursday night's riots, quelled only by teargas and club attacks by reinforced militiamen and police.

More than 30 students were reported arrested in the clashes which erupted in downtown Narutowicza Square Thursday night. The students had assembled in the square to protest against government closure of an anti-Stalinist student newspaper.

There was no report of student casualties, if any. One Western newsman was reported roughed up during the fighting.

Security forces restored calm around midnight, some five hours after the first clash. But defiant students said they would stage new protest demonstrations this afternoon.

Police remained on guard in the square, littered with bottles, sticks and stones which testified to the fierce fighting between the students and security forces.

An estimated 700-steel-helmeted militiamen were rushed to the square Thursday night to help police break up the demonstrations. The students were protesting the government ban on the anti-Stalinist student weekly Proprostu.

The students, estimated at around 2,000, had marched on the square after plastering the city with posters proclaiming "Democracy is in Danger." The posters signed by the "Socialist Youth Union Committee of the Polytechnic High School," appeared in all high schools in Warsaw.

ABOUT the VALLEY

(By The Independent News Staff)

Determined Legion

The Belle Vernon American Legion was determined to show films of a Pitt football game at its annual bocci banquet the other night even if it meant a transportation problem.

To secure the movie, it was necessary to have a Carnegie Tech student from Belle Vernon go to Pitt pick up the film, then rush home.

The return trip was even more complicated. A Belle Vernon resident who works as a secretary in downtown Pittsburgh carried the film that far, then hired a taxi to get it the rest of the way.

All that trouble for a game the Panthers lost!

She Didn't Listen

The attraction this week at the Manos Theatre is "The Ten Commandments."

Next week the attraction is "Reform School Girl."

The poor gal mustn't have taken heed.

World Series Flu

When St Leonard's parochial school dismissed classes yesterday because of epidemic, assistant pastor Rev. John Conway commented to a Daily Independent reporter:

"We haven't been able to determine whether our students are suffering from the Asiatic flu or the World Series flu."

Students in Fog

On Wednesday morning Rostraver school officials were unable to determine how many students were absent because of the current epidemic of head colds.

"As a matter of fact, there are very few students in class as of now," said secretary Marian Driscoll. "The fog has delayed our school buses as much as two hours and we don't know how many there are on them."

Miss Driscoll agreed that Rostraver schools have been "mighty quiet" the past week.

Are They Kidding?

Printed cards in Monessen barbershops point out the new prices of haircuts and other services with the sly bit of information that all these prices are minimum only.

Wonder if they think there will be very many who will pay more? To top things off the minimum is spelled "mimimum."

Ready for Future

Two helicopters made a surprise landing at the Charleroi Chamber of Commerce parking lot earlier in the week.

One of the pilots handed an attendant $1 to cover the parking fee.

All of which has prompted the Chamber to establish a new 50 cent charge for parking helicopters.

"We do not want to discriminate against future helicopter customers," explained a spokesman.

What Else?

Campaign Briefs—

'Turnerism' Big Issue In County Campaign, GOP Candidates Say

Westmoreland County Republican candidates charged again last night that "Turnerism is the chief issue in the election campaign."

Speaking at a rally of Republican women in Greensburg, the GOP nominees levelled most of their fire at Arthur (Buddy) Turner, Rostraver Twp., who is chief of county detectives.

"It's time we remove the stench from the county and replace the unfavorable headlines, bristled Wayne R. Donahue, candidate for district attorney.

Donahue repeated an earlier demand that "Buddy Turner must go," then added:

"I cannot for the life of me understand why people continue to vote for candidates of the machine that have caused these things — especially after they have read in the newspapers and in the national periodicals about Westmoreland's shame."

Other candidates for county offices who addressed the council, which held a dinner meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Anderson, were Avra N. Pershing Jr., Robert H. Rial and Willis E. Topper, GOP nominees for the Court of Common Pleas, William F. Cox, candidate for prothonotary, and Robert L. Kunkle, nominee for clerk of courts.

Pershing affirmed that "Turnerism" is the chief issue in the election campaign; Rial pointed out that all Democratic nominees for Common Pleas Court and the district attorney's office are former Republicans and Topper declared that "lopsided government is not good government."

Topper urged Republican women to concentrate their efforts of getting out the votes of all countians who want good government.

Reject Challenge

Westmoreland County Democratic candidates apparently have no intention of accepting a Republican challenge to "debate the issues of the campaign."

Jay W. Kromer, county Democratic chairman, today told the Daily Independent that he opposes the debate suggestion.

"I don't think much of the idea," said Kromer. "We intend to go out and win the election and let the debating to the Republicans."

Kromer said his party plans to present its case to the people through rallies and meetings.

The debate challenge was made earlier in the week by Smith McKee Jr., co-ordinator for the county GOP campaign Both McKee and Kromer are also county commissioners.

McKee said that all three Republican candidates for Common Pleas Court bench and the candidate for district attorney had agreed to "appear on any public platform with the Democratic nominees."

Kromer said he had no objection if individual Democratic candidates wanted to become involved in a debate, but he added that he would advise against it.

GOP Vice-Chairman

Mrs. Nellie George Anderson, Greensburg, has been named acting vice-chairman of the Westmoreland County Republican Committee.

Mrs. Anderson will assume many of the duties of Mrs. Emma W. McIntire, vice-chairman, who is undergoing medical treatment for a visual disorder.

Meeting Tonight

The Monessen Democratic Committee will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the City Building to discuss plans for the general election campaign.

District Persons File Suits for Accident Damages

Two damage suits involving district persons have been filed in Washington County Court.

Melvin Wilson and William Dockery, Clarksville, have asked for damages in excess of $2,500 in a suit filed against August DiCenzo, 113 Shore St. Monongahela.

The plaintiffs charge they were injured in a traffic accident on Route 71 one mile east of Belle Vernon on July 3, 1957. Wilson was a passenger in a car operated by Dockery.

It is alleged that Dockery was attempting to pass a truck owned by the defendant and operated by Francis DiCenzo, when the truck allegedly swerved to the left across the center line into the Dockery car.

Wilson asks for more than $2,500 for "serious and permanent injuries" while Dockery is seeking $909 28 as alleged damage to his car.

In another suit, Mrs. Elizabeth Kotcella, Charleroi, is asking for more than $5,000 in damages as a result of an alleged fall in the Pittsburgh Mercantile Co. store in Charleroi.

Mrs. Kotcella states she tripped and fell on a coco of fiber mat at the swinging door as she left the store She claims to have been severely and permanently injured.

Planners Get More Time

The Westmoreland County Planning Commission had decided to give the county's building and real estate professions more time to study proposed new sub-division regulations.

Originally, the deadline for suggestions on the proposed code was to be today.

However Robert P. Delotto, secretary for the Commission, said that the planners have agreed to extend the deadline at least another month and perhaps until Dec. 1.

Copies of the proposed regulations have been mailed to almost 500 county persons. most of them in the building and real estate professions. All attorneys have also received drafts of the sub-division code.

DeLotto urged that the plans accompanied by suggestions and criticisms be mailed as soon as possible.

He reported that only a small percentage of the plans are being returned and most of them are coming from attorneys rather than builders and real estate men.

DeLotto said that a spokesman for the real estate profession said more time was needed to study the matter. The Commission has decided to go along with that observation.

Why not Debate?

THE REPUBLICAN candidates for judge and district attorney in Westmoreland County have made a blanket offer to meet the Democratic nominees in a series of debates throughout the county before the election on Nov. 5.

This, of course, is a fairly standard campaign tactic, usually employed by the "outs" who are trying to get "in". And the standard response of the "ins" is to brush off the challange on the pretext that they are too busy, that their schedules are already made up and that, anyway, the "outs" are just trying to get publicity.

Very likely the standard procedures will be followed in this instance, and we'll be much surprised if any debates are staged.

This won't keep us from saying, however, that the idea is a very good one and that we can think of nothing that would so well inform the voters of the capabilities and attitudes of the candidates for these tremendously important offices.

It is true, of course, that a competent judge isn't necessarily an orator. Nor is an orator necessarily going to be a good judge.

But no lawyer can acquire the training and experience needed for service on the bench without having acquired also the ability to express his ideas, if he has any, about the judiciary and its place in our governmental system. And a face-to-face discussion of these ideas, we're certain, would be interesting and illuminating for many Westmoreland County voters.

The Republican candidates for judge are telling us that the courts and judges of the county are enmeshed in partisan politics. But so far, the Democratic candidates have been talking only about inflation and how good the Democratic party is to everybody.

Wouldn't it be refreshing, just for a change, to have all the candidates for a given office in the same room presenting their ideas about that office and, where they differ, explaining why?

The practical politician isn't likely to welcome such methods. But the thoughtful voter might find them quite helpful.

'Perfect' Liberals

IT IS HARDLY news by now that the two congressmen from this immediate area, Reps. Augustine Kelley, of Westmoreland County, and Thomas Morgan, of Washington-Fayette-Greene counties, are slavish adherents of what they are pleased to call a "liberal" philosophy, although we might dispute their interpretation of that word.

So perhaps we shouldn't be startled by an announcement from Americans for Democratic Action, that Congressmen Kelley and Morgan were among only 39 members of the House who made what ADA calls "perfect" voting records.

Any lawmaker, of course, is entitled to his convictions and we would not question the sincerity of Messers. Kelly and Morgan in their support of the ADA position.

We have to wonder, however, whether a representative is really very representative when he is hewing so closely to a "line" determined by a group which operates so far to the left of the center of American political thought as the ADA. When only 39 members of a legislative body composed of a total membership of 435 can accept the ADA position 100 per cent of the time, there may be some grounds for wondering how much independent thinking is going on among the 39. Isn't it a reasonable suspicion that some of them are just following a "line" from force of habit?

It is interesting to note that the ADA gives the Republicans as a whole in the House a rating of 46 per cent and the Democrats, 55 per cent. Which would seem to put both parties approximately in the middle of the political spectrum.

The records of Mr. Kelley and Dr. Morgan, however, put them over on the far left of the spectrum. And we wonder, in all seriousness, if that is an accurate reflection in Washington of the thinking of the people of this area.

Flu a la Asia

IN THESE DAYS when John Q. Public is hep to all the latest developments in medical science, we have to expect him to get worked up when something so new as "Asiatic flu" is said to be creeping towards him. Quick, gimme a shot, seems to be the typical reaction.

But if John would just read more than the first two paragraphs of the science pieces, he'd know that it's mostly a laboratory matter whether a person has "Asiatic flu". So far as the patient is concerned, he feels almost exactly as he would feel with a good old-fashioned, garden variety cold. And the treatment is approximately the same.

The experts tell us that human beings are susceptible to attack by an infinite number of viruses, most of which haven't even been identified except by broad types. And this critter from Asia is said to be one of the most harmless. Why give him more attention than he deserves? We're almost sure to have a different one next year.

From Vienna–

'Atoms-for-Peace' Gets A Chance

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

VIENNA — For the whole world to see and from which to take some hope, a thin sliver of light broke through the clouds of the cold war in Vienna today.

Mr. Drummond

Admittedly, it is a faintly glimmering light which the Soviets might be able to blot out if they so decide.

For 12 frustrating years, the great powers have been unable to find anyway to put a check rein on atoms-for-war.

Now at last, the more powerful nations and the weaker nations, the wealthier and the poorer nations, are joining to speed and spread the benefits of atoms-for-peace.

This, it seems to me, is the largest meaning of what some 300 correspondents from both sides of the Iron Curtain are witnessing here. The birth of this International Atomic Energy Agency which before long 82 governments will join.

This is a date which will appear in the history books. It may well be an epochal date in history itself.

Only a Beginning

Let it be clear that this is a modest, minute uncertain beginning. But it is a real beginning. It has a tremendous potential.

Here are the free nations and the satellite nations, here are the great powers who couldn't agree at London on how to disarm the military atom, all of whom are now joining to put the peaceful atom to work more fully and more quickly than would otherwise be possible.

What is being created here is not a full-blown brave new world of atomic power and atomic peace but the international machinery by which the benefits of the peaceful atom can be realized by nations which just couldn't do it all by themselves.

It is no give-away program. It is no program of international socialism. It is Point Four technical assistance geared to the atomic age in which the nations which utilize the Agency will pay a very large part of its costs.

Medium of Cooperation

Nuclear disarmament may still be a long way off. Certainly this stalemate at London and at the U. N. in New York suggests that Moscow is not much interested in disarmament. But what is happening here at Vienna can produce a small break-through on one front of the cold war. Here are three concrete things, the Soviets willing, which are in the making:

1—The world's atomic pool creates a new method and a new framework of international cooperation which will be as non-political as the Communists will permit. It is designed to cross and to make a beginning toward removing part of the East-West iron curtain. It rests on the premise that even if the free world and the Soviet world cannot agree to constrict the military atom, we can work together to extend the peaceful atom.

2—The nations which most need atomic power, the nations where conventional power is at stake as in Latin America, Asia and areas of Western Europe, will now have the prospect of getting it sooner. The age of atomic power has been within sight for a decade. The Agency aims to bring it within reach and thereby to help industrialize the economies of undeveloped countries to the benefit of the whole free world.

How valuable it would be if Western Europe did not have to depend upon the politically precarious oil supplies from the Middle East which, if shut off for long, could bring its whole industrial life to a deathly standstill.

Europe Eager

Western Europe has its sights on this atomic goal and this may be one of the reasons why the Soviets threw every conceivable roadblock in the way of the Agency until they found that the world would go ahead without them. They are now here in force and it is too soon to be sure whether they are going to help or to hamper. That we will need to watch.

3—The lease of fissionable materials from the world bank will bring into being a system of inspection and control to be sure that the new U-35 is not diverted for weapons. This may be a valuable proving ground for the kind of inspection which would be useful for nuclear disarmament.

The Agency has no magic wand with which to wave atomic energy into being for the whole world overnight. Every participating country will have much to do for itself. But this beginning can be an historic turning point in which fear of the atom yields to hope — and fruition.

It may well be that President Eisenhower's "atoms for peace" concept will, in the end, prove to be the most beneficent and the most remembered achievement of the Eisenhower era.

Jerusalem a City of Hate

By DREW PEARSON

JERUSALEM — When you look out over Jerusalem from the Jewish side toward the old, as I did last year, it is a beautiful city. And when you look out at the new Jerusalem from the Arab side as I did this year, it is also beautiful.

Mr. Pearson

The modern buildings of Hebrew University, of Histadrut, the Hadassah Hospital, and the tower of the YMCA are on the Jewish side. The Lutheran church, the Church of The Holy Sepulchre, the tomb of Christ, the minarets of Moslem mosques are on the Arab side.

It's a city — two cities — dedicated to a Man who taught the world to love but which is now an example of hate

Between the two cities is a valley — a no man's land of weeds, rocks, shattered houses — a virtual Valley of Hate. On both sides of that valley the petunias, the climbing bougainvillaea, the hibiscus are just as beautiful. On both sides children plan in the street, carefree, happy children who have not learned yet what it is to hate. On both sides the doves fly back and forth, able to do what mere man cannot do or is unwilling to do — rise above the Valley of Hate.

At night there is peace over the two cities. Only the dogs bark. Then, toward morning, the cocks begin to crow, the Moslem hodjas call out from the minaret tops, the bells peal out from the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, and the two cities come to life, alert, suspicious, on guard against attack, when they could be working together for peace.

Having traveled through most of the Arab states, and last year through most of Israel, I can report that there will be no peace in the Near East until there is no more Valley of Hate, until the city which was named David "Yerushalaim," city of peace, becomes a city of peace in fact.

Bridging the Valley

To see how the leaders of Israel felt about bridging the Valley of Hate, I crossed through the Mandelbaum Gate, only passageway between the Old City and the new, only link across the valley. It's about 30 yards from the last Arab guardhouse in the Old City across no man's land to the first Israeli outpost. The Jordanian guard wished me good luck in excellent English, and I walked across. An Arab porter carried my suitcase, by this time extra heavy from buying knickknacks in the bazaars of Jerusalem at the request of my wife.

On each side of the gate are empty buildings, their windows shattered, their walls pockmarked by machine-gun fire.

No one fired at me, however. An Israeli official said: "Welcome to Israel" and took me inside the guardhouse. He was a young immigrant from Algeria and spoke just as perfect English as the Jordanian who had wished me a pleasant journey.

Both these young men, I thought, could be good friends if it wasn't for the Valley of Hate.

The young Israeli phoned for a taxi and I drove through the new city to the King David Hotel.

Nursing Egyptian Prisoners

In Israel I tried to find out what was being done to bridge the Valley of Hate. I talked with Dr. Haim Sheba who has pioneered Hashomel Hospital. After the Sinai War a year ago, he had cared for 200 Egyptian prisoners.

"They had been left by their commanders on the desert without water for 48 hours and were badly dehydrated," explained Dr. Sheba, "but we managed to save all but three. Some were pretty badly wounded.

"We also tried to show them that there was no reason to hate Israel, and I thought for a time we had succeeded. They got the same care as any Israeli soldier, and after they recovered we let them go to any part of Israel. They were given trips around the country in buses. They visited in Jewish homes. There was no effort to spy on them.

"I had a little trouble with the Egyptian officers. Their fingers were covered with heavy jeweled rings, and they wanted to be in rooms apart from their men. We explained that Israeli soldiers and officers always shared the same wards and we were giving them the same treatment. I suspected later that they might be afraid of their men. There was no love lost between Egyptian officers and men. The men remembered how their officers deserted them.

"I had trouble with my nurses and one young doctor over General Adigbi, the Egyptian Governor of Gaza who had sentenced two Jews to death," Dr. Sheba said. "At first my nurses protested against caring for him. But I told them, 'He is our patient under the terms of the International Red Cross and we shall take care of him that way.'

Medical Ambassador

"The general asked permission to bring his wife into the hospital. She had quite a serious abdominal condition and she asked to be operated on in a Jewish hospital. At first her husband was skeptical, asked permission to have an Egyptian surgeon attend the operation. This we were glad to do.

"The operation was successful," said Dr. Sheba modestly, "and we were able to send Mrs. Adigbi back to Egypt fully recovered. She and her three children had lived with us in the hospital for so long that they became quite attached to the nurses.

"When we put them on the plane, she and the children wept and kissed the nurses and said they would tell all of Egypt how well they had been treated. When they got back someone must have silenced them. We never heard from them.

"I am sure," concluded Dr. Sheba, "that the care we gave our prisoners was not in vain. In the days to come perhaps they will remember that we do not have to hate each other."

I also learned that Gamel Abdel Nasser was taken prisoner by the Israelis in 1948 and had been allowed to travel all over the country, virtually as a tourist. He had professed friendship for Israel. When he was repatriated, nothing more was heard of that friendship.

Anxious to learn what could be done to bridge the Valley of Hate, I next went to see Premier Ben-Gurion.

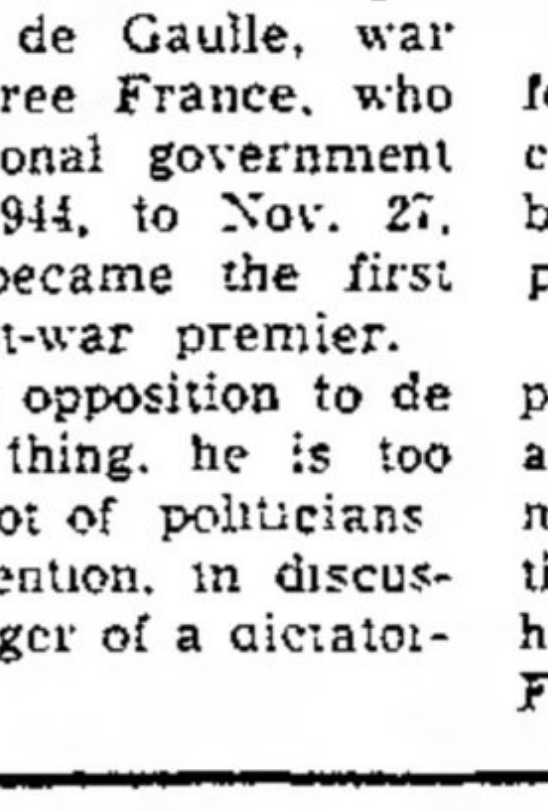
De Gaulle May Emerge From French Crisis

By CHARLES M. McCANN

France appears to be approaching a point at which it must seek a radical solution for its chronic cabinet crisis.

Its National Assembly, the controlling House of parliament, has just thrown out Premier Maurice Bourges-Maunoury, leader of its 23rd government since the end of World War II.



Mr. McCann

Whoever succeeds Bourges-Maunoury will inherit two big problems — the future at Algeria and the threat of inflation.

It is most unlikely that the successor will be able, any more than was Bourges-Maunoury, to command a solid majority in the assembly.

The life of French governments since the end of the war has averaged a little more than five months. Bourges-Maunoury's cabinet lasted 109 days.

The only remedy for this situation in sight at the moment is for the multiple political groups in parliament to seek a "strong man" as premier.

De Gaulle Only "Strong Man"

But the only candidate for the "strong man" role now in sight is Gen. Charles de Gaulle, war time leader of Free France, who headed a provisional government from Sept. 10, 1944, to Nov. 27, 1945, and then became the first constitutional post-war premier.

There is strong opposition to de Gaulle. For one thing, he is too strong to suit a lot of politicians. His opponents mention, in discussing him, the danger of a dictatorship.

But it looks as if something has got to be done, and more and more Frenchmen are discussing the possibility that de Gaulle may be called upon again to lead France.

Some French leaders distrust him on the gound that he is too ambitious, and would rule with an iron hand.

But there are others, and their number is growing, who deny that. They say that de Gaulle is not personally ambitious, that he is dedicated to the French Republic, and that he really is democratically-minded.

Proposed Self-Rule

Bourges-Maunoury sought to end the Algerian rebellion by sponsoring a plan which would have given the Arab natives a great measure of self-rule, but at the same time would have protected the interests of the 1,200,000 Frenchmen in the country.

He sought to control the threat of inflation by controlling farm prices.

Bourges-Maunoury was thrown out on the Algeria issue. Leftists said his plan did not go far enough. Rightists said it went too far.

Had he survived the Algeria vote of confidence, he would have found himself confronted by the equally controversial price control issue.

At the moment, the prospect is for the formation of another shaky coalition government which would be at the mercy of contending parties

De Gaulle is the sole strong political figure in France. Unless another candidate for the "strong-man" role appears unexpectedly, the politicians sooner or later may have to call upon him to give France real leadership

Seems Quigg Missed Some Town Names

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UP)—Since publishing, a couple of weeks ago, some of the fine and flip town names of this nation, and how they got that way, we have been pinged with why-didn't-you protests.

Why didn't you include the great names of What Cheer, Ia., and Bird-In-Hand, Pa.? And how about Ninety-Six, S. C.:

"I know a man," volunteers H. Ferguson, of New York, "from Social Circle, Ga."

"May I," writes Harry Marsh, of Van Buren, Ark., "add a couple of names that are self-descriptive—Needmore, Ark., south of Fort Smith, and Westwego, a suburb of New Orleans, just west of the city, of course."

It is nice to hear from Van Buren, Ark, because that was the home of the late comedian Bob Burns, who himself coined a great name for his musical instrument—"bazooka"—that later graced an Army weapon.

Eating In Alabama

"I had an aunt," says J. Woliston, of Greenwich, Conn., "in Flea Hop, Ala. For breakfast on a cotton and sweet potato farm there, we sat down around a long table, and they pulled out a big drawer that had everything in it—smoked fish, sugar, salt and pepper, and some salt pork—and everybody ate breakfast from the drawer, apparently an old Flea Hop custom.

"Incidentally, Flea Hop is near Eclectic, Ala.—about five miles—and maybe it got its name because travelers asking how far it was to Eclectic were told, 'It's just a flea-hop down the road.'"

Could be. Maybe it would be more interesting to learn how Eclectic got its name.

Al Krebs calls attention to three Mississippi towns: Alligator, Hot Coffee, and Thirsty (just up the highway from Hot Coffee).

If you take a look into the postal directory, right away in the "A's" you are deep in the wonder of place names: Access, Ky.; Accord, Mass.; Ace, Tex.; Achilles, Va.; Affinity, W. Va . .

There are eight Alphas (Ill., Iowa, Ky., Mich., Minn., N.J., Ohio, Va.) but only three Omegas (Ga., N.Mex., Okla.). There are eight Paradises (Calif., Kans., Ky., Mich., Mont., Pa., Tex., Utah) But only one Hells Half Acre (Wyo.). There's one Heavener (Okla.) and four places purporting to be the property of Satan: Devils Elbow, Mo.; Devils Lake, N. Dak.; Devils Slide, Utah; Devils, Tower, Wyo.

Tablet Towns

There are five Milltowns — and presumably waiting for someone to come in and make an energy pill are Pep, N.Mex., and Pep, Tex.

Some towns seem to want to tell you how they're feeling: Fine, N.Y.; Peculiar, Mo.; Smile, Ky., Sleepy Eye, Minn.; Soso, Miss.; Gay (Ga., Mich., W.Va.) and Moody (Maine, Mo., N.Y., Tex.)

Some are bullet-like: Grit, Tex.; Shock, W. Va.; Dare, Va.; Quick, W. Va.; Faith, N. C. and S. Dak.; True, W. Va.; Triumph, Idaho.

And of course there's the town named Truth or Consequences, N. Mex.

Tiptop, Ky., and Tiptop, Va., seem oddly opposed to Lower Peach Tree, Ala.—and Neon, Ky., to Darkharbor, Maine. But let's stop this. Something may be waiting for you in Fate, Tex.

Monessenites in Annual Series Trek

Three Monessen men, Ralph Trilli Arnold Bennicio and Ted Alatsis, are in New York (or were in New York) to enjoy the opening games of the World Series. They annually make the trek to the Fall classic, regardless of where it is played . . . Speaking of the series, the Braves looked very ineffective in that first game but don't count out those Big Bombers in that lineup . . . Marion Junior High coach Harry Muckle has a line averaging 161 pounds and a backfield going around 140 (heavy for junior high) but take three players away, for instance, Stan Petrosky, 195, in the backfield and George Trenk and Aland Miller (both 180) in the line, and the average drops down to a light 130 in the line and 121 in the backfield.

Today's Sports Parade—

Buhl to Oppose Yanks' Turley in Third Game

By OSCAR FRALEY

MILWAUKEE (UP)— Big Bob Buhl, a man who made 19 parachute jumps with the 11th Airborne Division, waited with understandable nonchalance today for a chance to bomb the New York Yankees in the third game of the World Series.

He'll hook up Saturday against another fireball flinger, bullet Bob Turley, and it will be a battle between the two hardest throwing pitchers on the squads of the all-even series rivals.

But, while the handsome, stern-faced Buhl isn't given to boasting, it is clearly obvious that he faces his task calmly.

"Sure," he acknowledged as the classic shifted from New York to Milwaukee. "The Yankees are supposed to 'eat' fast ball pitching. But I've got a couple of other pitches with which to get 'em out and we'll do the very best we can."

Buhl, who packs 180 pounds on his rugged six foot, two inch frame, isn't singling out any of the Yankees as hitters he respects more than others.

All Are Tough

"You do that and the chances are that the little guy will hit a home run and knock your brains out," he laughed. "They're all tough when they stand up there at the plate and have a bat in their hands. I'll just work on 'em the way we figure they have weaknesses."

The 29-year-old hurler from Saginaw, Mich., didn't say it defensively. For in Buhl the Braves have a fighter—who almost was one.

Back in his high school days, big Bob had definite ideas about entering the prize ring. There was just one thing wrong. He hit too hard. One day while sparring with a friend he belted the guy such a lick on the chops that he knocked his pal stiff.

"I was really scared I had hurt him badly," Buhl recalls. "That was the end of boxing for me. I decided from then on I'd stick to baseball."

He entered organized ball in 1947 with Madisonville of the Kitty League and, in the next three years, progressed through Saginaw of the Central League, Hartford of the Eastern League and Dallas of the Texas League, always hoping to make it up with the then Boston Braves.

Wound Up In Service

Before he could get his chance, he went into service in 1951 and wound up in the paratroops. Coming home in 1953, he went to the brand new Milwaukee Braves and won 13 games.

The next season he dropped to only two wins, miserably unable to control his breaking stuff. But he gradually recaptured his stride, finally won 18 in 1956 and seemed a cinch for the 20-game circle this season when, in mid-August, he suffered a sore arm and sat on the sidelines for three weeks. At the end he owned a still-imposing record of 18 wins against seven defeats.

Now he'll get his crack at the Yankees — a team he last faced in spring training during his rookie year of 1953.

"I had two five-inning jobs against them," he recalls. "I did fair at the time — but they have changed and, I guess, so have I."

How much each has changed will be told when the series resumes tomorrow. But one thing is certain. The Yanks don't worry the man with the airborne nerves.

Pre-Series Goat Covington Seen As Braves Hero

MILWAUKEE (UP) — Wes Covington, who was fitted for a pair of "goat's horns" in the pre-World Series analysis, shaped up today as the Milwaukee Braves' "solid man."

And you'll have to pardon General Manager Frank Lane of the St. Louis Cardinals if he says, "I told you so" because Lane singled out the 205-pound native of Laurinburg, N.C., as a Milwaukee "sleeper" before the Series got underway.

The 25-year-old Covington will go into the third game of the Series Saturday as the Braves' leading hitter with a .500 average and also has made the outstanding defensive play of the Series — his clutch back-handed grab of Bobby Shantz's liner in the second inning of Thursday's 4-2 Milwaukee victory.

"That catch was the turning point of the game," said Milwaukee manager Fred Haney. "The Yankees would have been in front, 3-1, if he hadn't made it and the whole complexion of the game would have been changed."

The irony was that the Yankees confidently expected Covington to be a liability to the Braves in the Yankee Stadium's vast and tricky sunfield. Better fielders than Covington have had their troubles out there in Series competition.

The fact is that Covington's catch was generally comparable to the one Brooklyn's Sandy Amoros made to save the seventh game of the 1955 Series. Covington did not have to run as close to the foul line as Amoros did but Shantz's ball was a liner while Yogi Berra's 1955 drive was a sliced fly.

Covington's .500 average represents three singles and a double in eight tries. He struck the "big one" for the Braves Thursday when he looped a single over shortstop Gil McDouglad's head with two on and none out in the fourth inning. That blow delivered Joe Adcock with the run that put the Braves in front. 3-2.

Knox - Halas Feud Flares Anew as Ron's Suspended

CHICAGO (UP) — The long-standing feud between football coaches and owners and the battling Knox family flared again Thursday when George Halas, owner of the Chicago Bears, handed Ronnie Knox an "indefinite suspension" for "willful violation of club rules."

When Harvey Knox, who handles barbed phrases almost as well as his football playing son handles the pigskin, was informed of the suspension Thursday, he retorted by calling Halas a "skunk."

According to Bear officials, Knox has taken a "consistently lackadaisical" attitude toward practice sessions ever since he signed on with the Bears.

Knox said Ronnie called Halas on the telephone Thursday morning asking for permission to miss the morning practice session. He said it was the only chance he would have to see his lawyer before the lawyer left for Washington.

The elder Knox said, "Halas said if you miss practice it will cost you a fifth of your salary, you are not excused!"

The Knoxes met with their lawyer in spite of Halas' refusal to grant their request.

Knox met with his lawyer to discuss a law suit the father-son team is planning against the Bears over pay for exhibition games.

Vernon, Marion Lose; Carroll Drops Opener

Two local Junior High elevens and the valley's newest Junior WPIAL entry dropped decisions yesterday in district contests.

Vernon dropped a 19-13 decision to Fallowfield. Marion was edged by Perry, 13-9 and Carroll Township lost its first start to Aliquippa, 33-7. Rostraver's game with South Huntingdon was cancelled.

Despite being weakened from recent "colds" Coach Kenny Clark's Vernon Junior High eleven fought gamely against a Fallowfield Township team yesterday afternoon before dropping a 19-13 decision.

It was all Burgess for the winners as the speedy back chalked up the three Perry TDs and the extra point.

Perry's Juniors took a 6-0 halftime lead but the Vernons staged a comeback to tie the count in the last quarter 13-13, after pulling close at 13-7.

A Perryopolis pass near the end of the game accounted for the final touchdown and victory for the Townshippers after a hard-fought battle.

Joe Lopez and Ron Feher accounted for the Vernon scores with Tom Johnston posting the lone extra-point.

Carroll Township's inexperienced gridders had difficulty getting started at Aliquippa yesterday afternoon and dropped a 33-7 decision to the Veteran Little Quips.

The second half of the game the Cancers put up quite a battle but couldn't erase a 19-0 first half Aliquippa lead.

Dale Diaz, shifty Carroll back-raced eight yards for the lone Carroll score to climax a 60-yard drive which featured the running of Diaz and Bob Davis. Diaz also ran for the extra point, skirting end for the seventh point.

Two Quip touchdowns came on breaks, one when they recovered a kickoff which the Carroll players let roll after touching the ball and another on a punt bobble by a Carroll receiver.

A 40-yard and a 27 yard run and a plunge to climax a 60 yard drive accounted for the other Aliquippa tallies.

Kubek, whose home is in Milwaukee, played left field in the first game in New York and third base in the second. He also plays shortstop, second base and center field.

Wilkinsburg Game With Latrobe to Top WPIAL Card

By UNITED PRESS

Flu-ridden Wilkinsburg, a favorite to win the WPIAL Class AA championship, travels to Latrobe tonight to meet the Wildcats in what may be the toughest game this season for Coach Clarke Ted Miller's Tigers.

Miller, fighting off a respiratory ailment himself, said only 30 of 69 players showed up for mid-week practice because of the flu. He said his team still would be greatly disabled tonight.

Among those who won't be able to play are tackles Al Maiello and Dave Antonopolis.

Latrobe, undefeated this season was eliminated from championship contention last week because of a 6-6 tie with Penn. Wilkinsburg has won four consecutive victories this year including two AA games.

Other top high school games tonight include Beaver Falls—Ambridge in a top AA contest. Carrick-Baldwin in a game to decide the Triadic Conference title and Mt. Lebanon-Rosedale Penn.

Included in games scheduled for tonight but canceled because of virus epidemics were:

Monessen at Hempfield; Charleroi at Brownsville; Turtle Creek at New Kensington; Union Twp. at Bessemer; Uniontown at Redstone Ellsworth - Cecil; Hurst at Greensburg, Shenango at Mercer Homestead at Jefferson Twp. Warwood at Chester. W. Va.

Other cancellations and postponements:

Quaker Valley at Bethel; Shenango at Mercer Evans City at Zelienople and Glassport at Rostraver.

Walter Bazzard, chairman of the WPIAL football committee, said today teams in the championship running will have until Nov. 23 to replay postponed games.

Hurricanes Battle Heavier Uhlans at McClellandtown

Coach Bap Manzini takes his Bellmar High School gridders to German Township's home field at McClellandtown tonight for an important Class A encounter.

The Hurricanes have a two-game winning streak going after dropping the opener to Perryopolis, 26-6. A 6-0 win over Centerville and a 19-6 triumph at Penn Joint followed the Perry defeat.

German, on the other hand, has experienced two losses but both to rugged foes. Uniontown of Class AA by 26-0 and Scott Township by a 13-6 count.

Uhlans Heavier Team

Bellmar will be out-weighed against the Uhlans despite boasting a heavy team of its own, but the main source of worry for the Hurricanes will be fast-stepping German halfbacks, Sam Sims and Bill Rutland, both very fast.

An addition to the two terrific halfbacks, German boasts of six veteran lineman which adds up to a large order for the Hurricanes.

Bellmar Starter Set

Against the Townshippers of Coach Lou Rozzi, Manzini plans to send a starting array of Percy Cranford and Bill Kubin at ends. Gary Grant and Ron Schmidt at tackles, Kenny Waugaman and Burgess or O'Toole, at guards Bill Mullen at center with a backfield of Ron Coates at quarterback, Ralph Greco and Larry Rankin at the halfback posts and hard-running Reggie Kostelac at fullback. Denny Swiantek could break into the starting backfield at a halfback slot with Larry Petras probably spelling off Coates at quarterback.

Against Penn Joint it was Kostelac and Coates showing well with heads-up play and neat running especially on an 80-yard pass interception run by the 'Cane quarterback.

Rostraver - Glassport Contest Postponed

Rostraver High School's game with Glassport has fallen victim of the present "cold" epidemic plaguing district sports teams.

Originally carded for tonight the game was moved to tomorrow night in hopes the epidemic would subside but when conditions worsened it was decided to postpone the game indefinitely.

Monessen Jayvee Game Cancelled

The Monongahela - Uniontown Jayvee game carded for Monday night has been cancelled, Athletic Director Everett Pancook announced today.

Originally set for Uniontown, it was mutually agreed to cancel the contest when it was found many of the players from both teams were still ill yesterday morning.

Mantle Surprised

MILWAUKEE (UP)—When lumbering Joe Adcock of the Braves, a notoriously slow base runner, kept right on going after rounding first base on a single to center during Thursday's win over the Yankees, the move so surprised Yankee center - fielder Mickey Mantle that he bobbled the ball long enough to enable Adcock to make it safely to second.

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF

Pause That Counts

There are essentially only two parts to any golf swing — the backswing and the downswing. But what comes between is important,too. Why is the pause at the top of the backswing so important? Because it enables the player to think about what he intends to do.

Today's player has reached the top of his backswing, with his hands properly high. He has paused for a moment at this point and is ready to slam the clubhead into the ball. This boy knows what he's doing, what he wants to do — and will probably get off a good shot.

The pause also allows a deliberate backswing which cuts down body sway. If you take a slow backswing and don't pause, you might wind up lunging at the ball.

Remember, pause, start down slowly — accelerate — then — WHAMMO!

Braves Welcomed Home by 150,000 Milwaukee Fans

MILWAUKEE (UP) — The Milwaukee Braves, welcomed home in red carpet style by 150,000 persons, talked today about sweeping the next three games with the New York Yankees and "winding up" the World Series here.

The players and manager Fred Haney, still feeling the effects of their 4-2 victory that evened the Series at a game apiece Thursday were given a thrilling reception Thursday night.

At least 6,000 persons met them at Gen. Mitchell Field where Haney told newsmen in an unusual bit of boldness by the usually cautious skipper:

"I'm very enthusiastic and we'll wind it up here."

The players walked on a red carpet that was rolled up to their big plane as it landed and then boarded open convertibles for a 90-minute ride through the downtown area where crowds, sometimes five deep, shouted words of encouragement and toasted them in beer.

Belle Vernon KC Loop Race Tight

Winners in the Belle Vernon Knights of Columbus league last night were the St. Johns and St. Joseph teams as the league race tightened with only a game between first and last place.

Ken Stickel with a 192 and Zarardelli with a 215 rolled the single game highs with Zanardelli also showing a three-game mark of 537. Sam Fiorino, Jim Kehr, Joe Ferrari, also rolled top marks.

Standings — St. John 8-7, St. James 8-7, St. Sebastian 7-8, St. Joseph 7-8.

Braves Even Money Bet to End Yank Dynasty After 4-2 Win

By LEO H. PETERSEN

MILWAUKEE (UP)—The team which broke the longest reign in National League history took the World Series west for the first time in nine years today with an "even-money" chance of putting the egg in Milwaukee's beer by ending the New York Yankees' Series dynasty.

With Bob Buhl slated to oppose Bob Turley in Saturday's third game, the first of three at Milwaukee's County Stadium, the oddsmakers suddenly reversed their "line" on a Series that started with one of the dullest games in the classic's history but "warmed up" Thursday in a wild 4-2 Milwaukee victory marked by beanballs and insinuations.

Broadway bookmakers were still quoting the Yankees as "automatic" 7-5 choices to win the Series but the significant line was the "even money" one listed on Saturday's third game. This in effect, means the Braves are "even money" for the Series because if they win Saturday they'll have to be slight favorites, or 50-50 to take it all.

One thing seemed certain: The old familiar pattern of Yankee World Series wins was about to be put to the test of a young, determined, hard-hitting team that is to play the next three games in an atmosphere that the Yankees themselves have never experienced.

Yanks Face New Deal

For, true as it is that the Braves have never experienced the problems of vast Yankee Stadium, so it is also true that "their majesties" are about to experience something new in the wild enthusiasm of a city that has shattered every NL attendance record in the book.

Buhl and Turley are basically similar pitchers — low fast-ballers —who will have to keep the ball low in a park with much shorter home run distances than the Yankee Stadium.

Buhl, 29, posted an 18-7 record during the National League season while Turley, a 220 - pound giant, had a 13-6 season record.

Manager Fred Haney is expected to make only one change in his Series lineup—late-season batting sensation Bob (Hurricane) Hazle replacing veteran Andy Pafko in right field. Hazle is the kid brought up from Wichita who hit .526 for three weeks and wound up at .403 in one of the most spectacular late - season developments of the year.

Two Rookies To Start

Manager Casey Stengel, "down to only 24 players" because Bill Skowron's re-injured back has put him out of the Series, is expected to return rookie Tony Kubek to left field and put rookie Jerry Lumpe at third base. This would keep five left - handed hitters in the lineup without sacrificing defense — a luxury Stengel enjoys over all other major league managers.

The big question mark, as the Series moved west, was when the power hitters of both clubs would break out. Neither Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra of the Yankees, nor Ed Mathews of the Braves has yet to explode the long ball. Mantle is .286 with both his hits singles. Berra is 1-for-7 and Mathews 0-for-6. Figuring that such power cannot be contained indefinitely the bookies' odds reflect the idea that the one thing the Braves might be able to do is outslug the Yankees.

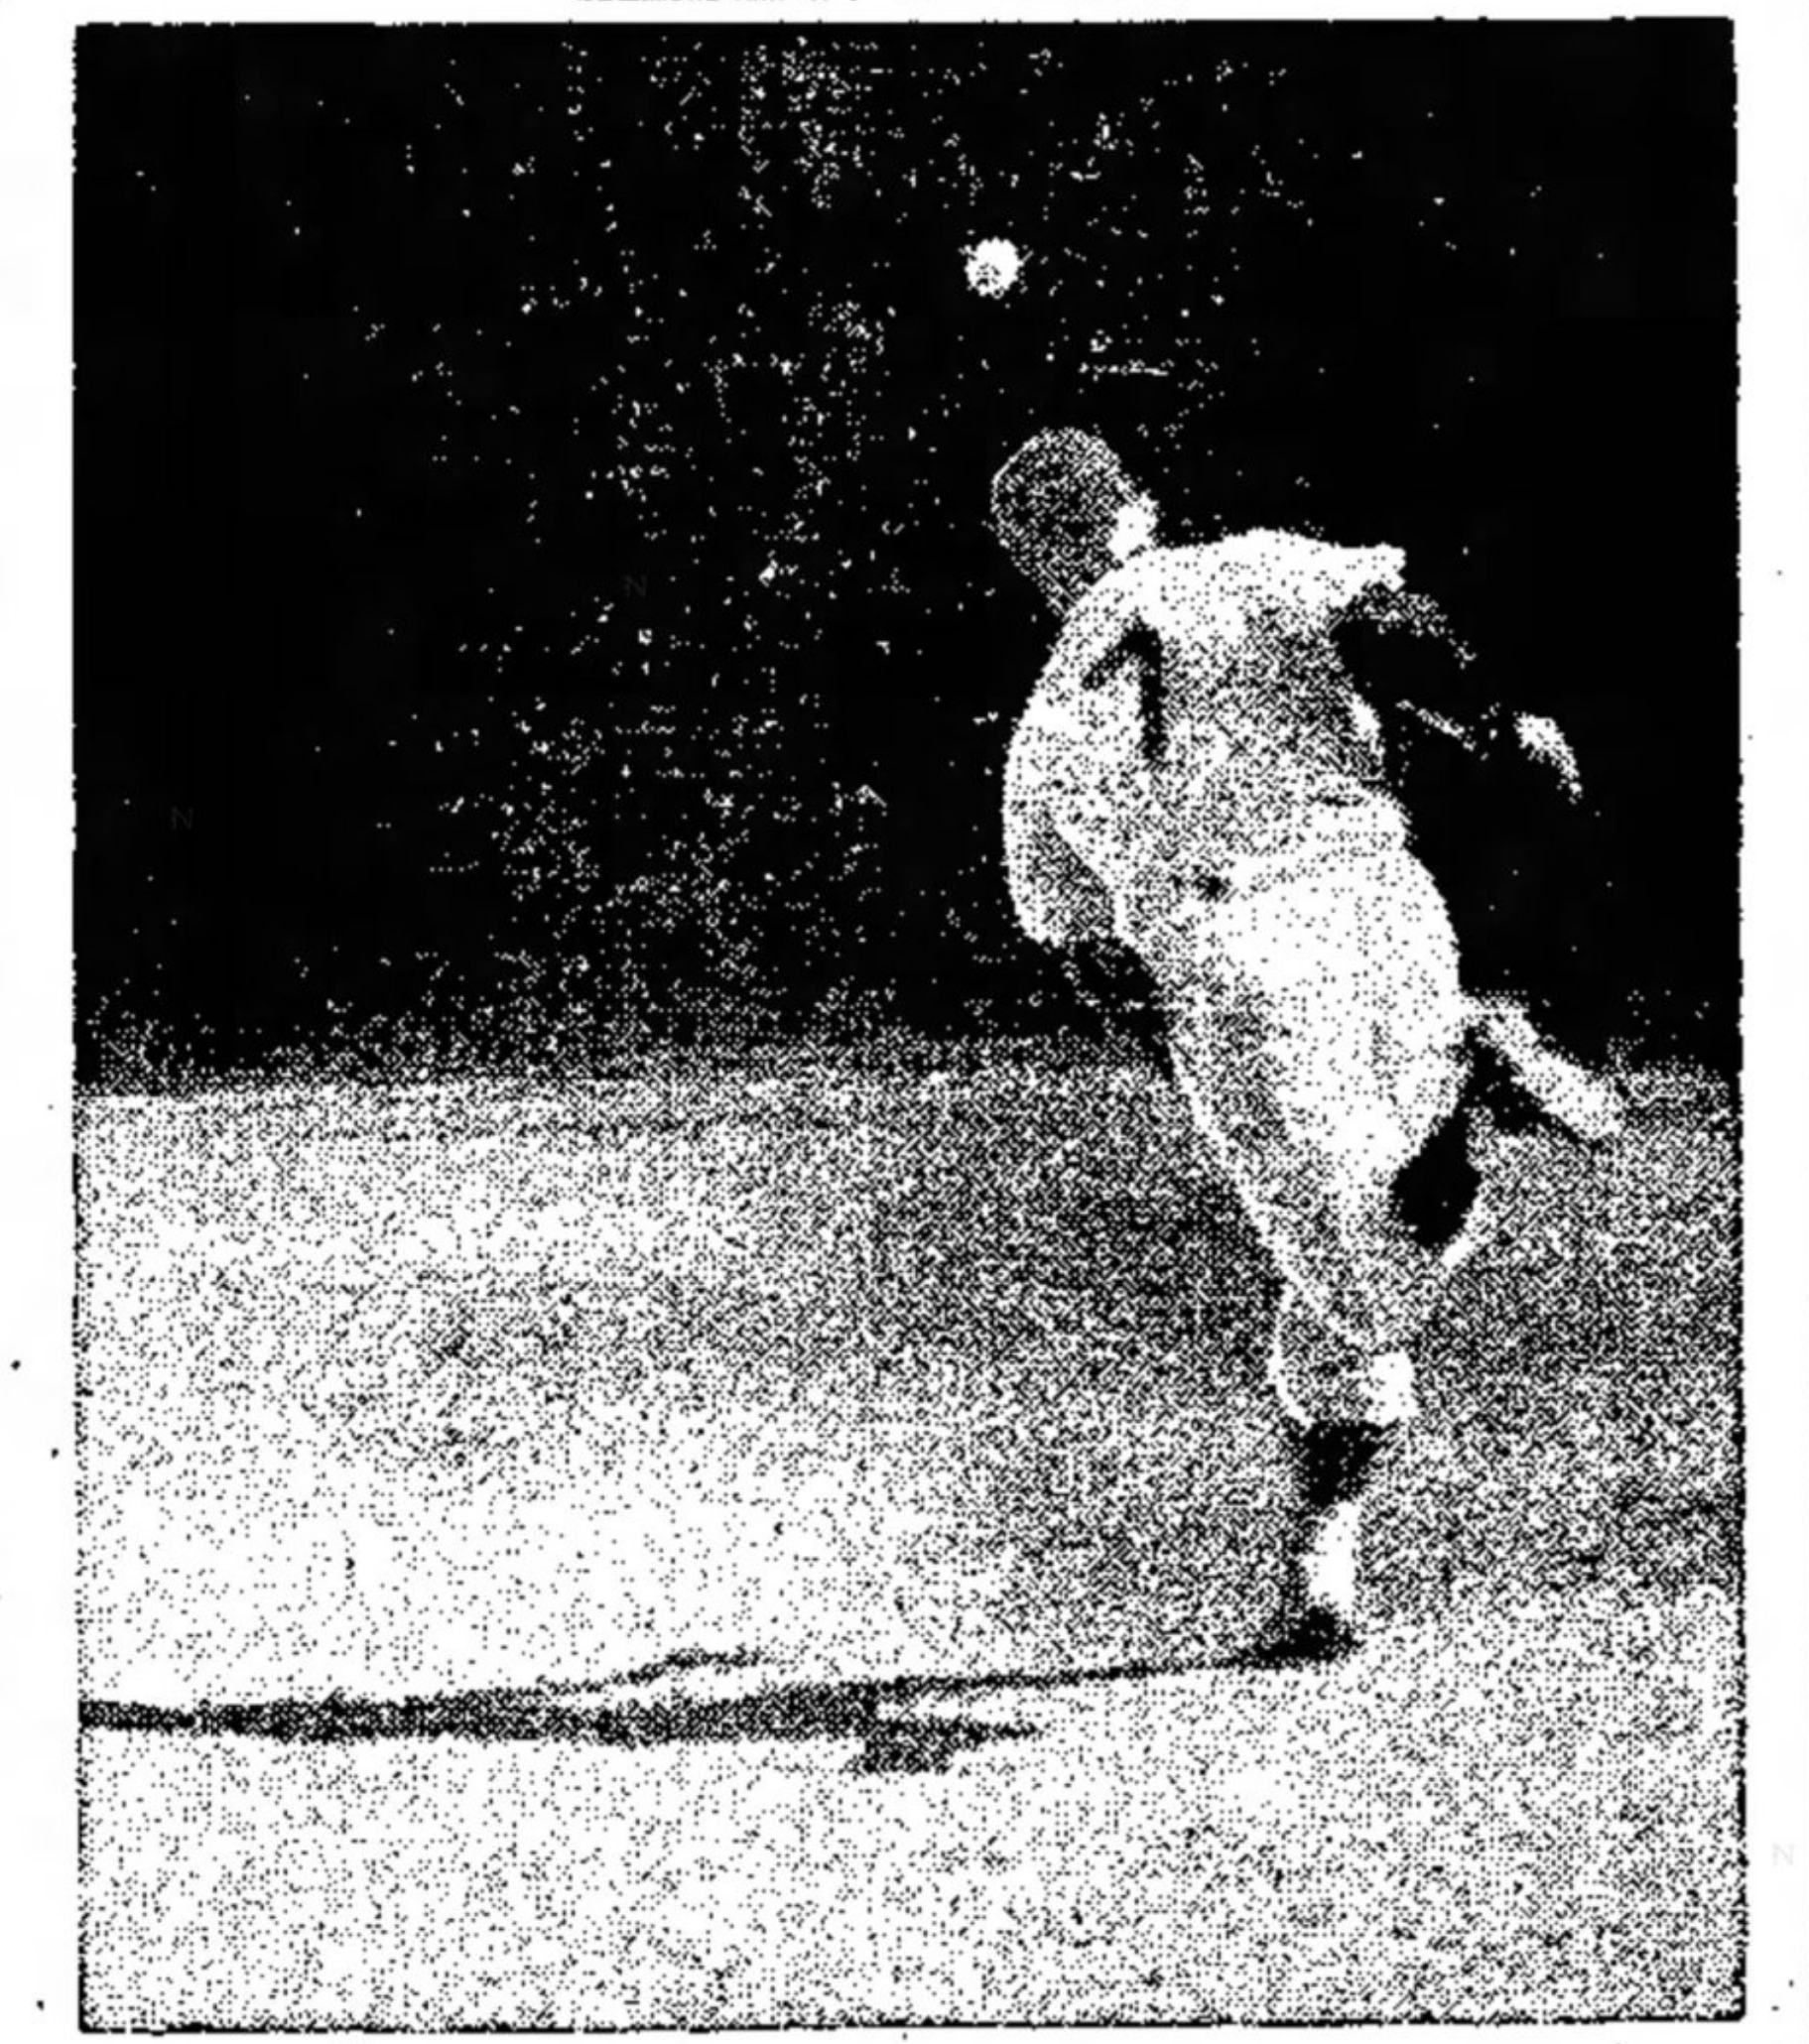
The first break in the Yankees', supposedly invincible, Series armament appeared Thursday when the world champions committed two errors which helped pave the way for the Braves' triumph.

The first break came when Mantle faded back for Aaron's second-inning fly only to let it fall over his head for a triple. The Braves promptly took advantage of this break when Joe Adcock singled to right center and went to second when Mantle juggled the ball.

Wes Covington's brilliant catch on Bobby Shantz choked off the Yankees' rally in the second inning and left the score tied at 1-1. Then Johnny Logan and Hank Bauer matched third-inning home runs to set the stage for the Braves' winning fourth-inning outburst.

Joe Adcock and Andy Pafko singled to open the frame and then Covington looped his single over shortstop to bring in Adcock. Pafko went all the way around when Enos Slaughter's throw went through Kubek for an error for the latter and thereafter Lew Burdette closed it out just like he was a Yankee.

Which, of course, he was in 1951 when the Yankees included him in a deal for Johnny Sain which paid off in a world championship but may, six years later, cost them another.



MANTLE MISSES AARON'S TRIPLE — Limping Mickey Mantle, who seemingly misjudged the hit, races back toward the 461-foot mark in Yankee stadium's center field, but the ball eludes him and Milwaukee's Hank Aaron roars into third for a triple in the second inning of the second World Series game. Milwaukee evened the Series at one game each by copping the second, 4-2.

Ring Magazine Ratings Disagree

NEW YORK (UP) — The Ring magazine disagreed sharply with the National Boxing Assn. today and named Charley (Tombstone) Smith of Los Angeles the fourth-ranking contender for the vacant welterweight crown.

The NBA, which is represented on the World Committee, did not rate Smith — welterweight champion of California—even among the first 10 contenders this month.

Other high welters on the Ring's list will cause no dispute. Ex-champion Tony DeMarco of Boston is top man, followed by Isaac Logart of Cuba, Vince Martinez of Paterson, N.J., Smith, Gil Turner of Philadelphia and Virgil Akins of St. Louis.

Steelers Ready For Cleveland

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Coach Buddy Parker ran his Steelers through a brisk morning workout while rival coach Paul Brown took over the practice field in the afternoon in preparation for the Pittsburgh-Cleveland game Saturday night.

Indications were the Pittsburgh team would be up to full strength with the exception of right end Bill McPeak who probably will be sidelined with a bruised side. If McPeak is out of the lineup, rookie John Nisby from College of Pacific will be given a chance in the starting lineup.

The Browns will field their team minus guard Harold Bradley and rookie defensive halfback Bobby Freeman, both on the disabled list.

A spokesman for the local team said the ticket sale indicated a capacity crowd will be on hand.

Pitt-Southern Cal Tilt Tonight Launches Busy Football Weekend

By UNITED PRESS

The University of Pittsburgh launches a busy week end of college football tonight with most other Western Pennsylvania teams scheduled for Saturday afternoon games.

Pitt and Southern California will meet at the Coliseum in Los Angeles in a contest expected to draw 40,000 spectators. The Panthers are 1½ point favorites over the Trojans.

Kickoff time will be 12:15 a.m. e.d.t. Saturday.

In the top weekend game, Rip Engle's Penn State Lions host Army in a contest which will draw national attention. State lost a close 14-7 decision to Army last year. In series play, Army has won four, Penn State one and the teams have tied twice.

In other Saturday games, Washington and Jefferson travels to Meadville to play Allegheny; Westminster, undefeated in 22 games, will play rival Waynesburg at Uniontown; Geneva, playing on home ground, meets John Carroll University of Cleveland (night).

Bethany (W.Va.) plays at Thiel; Bloomsburg State Teachers plays at Cortland; California State Teachers is at Lock Haven (night); Grove City hosts Clarion. Indiana State Teachers plays at Edinboro (night); Juniata is at Drexel; Slippery Rock State Teachers travels to Brockport; Shippensburg State Teachers hosts East Stroudsburg (night).

In a Sunday game, St. Vincents entertains Scranton.

Carnegie Tech was not scheduled to play this week end.

Krebs to All-Stars

NEW YORK (UP)—Jim Krebs, 6-foot-8 center from Southern Methodist, has been added to the College All - Star squad which meets the New York Knickerbockers in an exhibition game at Madison Square Garden, Oct. 19.

Williams - Busso On TV Tonight

WASHINGTON (UP) — Ernie (Sonny Boy) Williams, aggressive young Washington lightweight, meets contender Johnny Busso of New York tonight in their nationally - televised and broadcast (NBC) 10-rounder at the New Capitol Arena.

Rangy Busso, 23, is favored at 13-5 over stocky Williams, 22, because of his punch and because Sonny Boy lacks Busso's big-time experience. It will be Williams' first televised main event.

Panama Canal In Celebration

BALBOA, Canal Zone (UP)—The Panama Canal got set for a celebration today.

Sometime this afternoon or Saturday the 200,000th oceangoing commercial vessel to use the waterway is expected to go through. The captain will get a gold tie clasp and two certificates—one for himself and one for his ship.

It took 25 years from the day the canal was opened for the first 100,000 ships to go through. That mark was passed in 1939. With the war intervening it took 12 years for the next 50,000 oceangoing commercial ships to go through but the last 50,000 have gone through in only six years.

Make Plans to Hold Letter Week Here

Better sit right down and write yourself a letter next week because that is when International Letter Week will be observed in Monessen. Postmaster Edward Januszewski announced today.

Commenting on the establishment of International Letter Writing Week, Januszewski pointed out that each year since 1938 the Post Office Department has joined in the observance of National Letter Writing Week — an annual event celebrated to emphasize the meaning and value of letter writing as a symbol of American freedom.

"As a result of its success, Januszewski stated. Letter Writing Week will be conducted on an international basis this year for the first time. International Letter Writing Week is based on the idea that written communication between people in all countries of the world will contribute toward the building of lasting peace

"I am sure we are all aware that a personal letter is, next to an actual visit, the most intimate means each of us has to communicate with our fellow human beings. Letters between peoples of different national are a sure method of establishing friendly relationships and understandings. The problems of freedom loving peoples will be more quickly solved if they are better understood.

"I urge all citizens of Monessen to join in this first celebration of International Letter Writing Week and at the same time write that overdue letter to friends and relatives in America," he said.

Korean Police To File Protest In Youth Slaying

SEOUL, Korea (UP)—Korean police said today they asked the foreign ministry to lodge a "serious" protest with the United States for the fatal shooting of a Korean youth by a U.S. military policeman.

They demanded the soldier, Raymond L. Bailey, of Brownsberg, Ind., be placed under arrest.

They also asked for a joint investigation by the Republic of Korea and the United States and compensation of the youth's family.

The case, coupled with a parallel incident involving the shooting of two Korean girls by U.S. military guards, threatened to blow up bigger than the Girard case in Japan

It gave Koreans new ammunition in their demands for a status-of-forces agreement with the United States that would give the Republic of Korea government jurisdiction over U.S soldiers in certain cases.

Korean police charged Bailey fatally wounded 15-year-old Song Joon Won Thursday as he and four other youths were passing a sidetracked freight car Bailey and another military policeman were guarding.

A U S spokesman said Bailey claimed the boy was tampering with the boxcar, and that he failed to halt for a command or a warning shot. The incident occurred in the village of Kumchon, near Taegu.

Asks Cremation Permission at City Incinerator

AURORA, Ill. (UP)—An aged, debt-ridden man "made destitute by several painful illnesses" has asked the Aurora City Council for permission to have his body cremated in the city incinerator when he dies to spare his wife the added expense of burying him.

Charles Mishkin, 81, sent the notarized appeal to Mayor Paul Egan Thursday. The mayor said he will bring the matter up for council consideration at its next meeting Monday.

Mishkin told the mayor he was forced to this "last alternative" by debts and he doesn't want to leave his widow with another debt from a funeral parlor.

Mishkin described himself as a "free thinker" and said he therefore saw nothing "wrong in my request."

"The final fee or deposit of my body does not worry me," he added.

Msgr. Thomas J. Quigley, noted Catholic educator, will be the principal speaker at the annual Columbus Day banquet of Monessen Council 954, Knights of Columbus, on Sunday, Oct. 13.

The event will be held at Twin Coaches beginning at 6:30 p.m.

He was elected president of the National Catholic Music Educators Association in 1955 and is editor of the Musart Magazine. His priestly duties also include service as chaplain of the Providence Hospital in Beaver Falls.

Monsignor Quigley will head a long list of church dignitaries who have indicated that they will attend the banquet.

Grand Knight Louis J. Smith has appointed Frank Chiprich as general chairman of the event, which will be open to the Knights, their families and friends.

Prairie Fire Menaces Town In North Dakota

CANNONBALL, N.D. (UP)—About 200 volunteer firefighters today brought under control a spectacular prairie fire that menaced this small community for a time and swept about 3,000 acres of the Standing Rock Indian Reservation.

The flames, whipped by wind gusts of up to 55 miles an hour, raced across the western edge of Cannonball, an Indian community of about 200 persons, destroying one home but injuring no one.

Residents rushed from their homes and beat out the flames as they approached, leaving their houses little islands of unburned ground in a vast area of fire-blackened land.

Volunteers, after more than a 12-hour battle, brought the fire under control by setting a backfire north of the village. The flames burned out a path one and one-half miles wide and 12 miles long

Large Missile Explodes; No Injuries Reported

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UP)—A large missile exploded on the launching pad at the missile test center here Thursday but apparently there were no injuries.

Patrick Air Force Base indicated there would be no release on the explosion. The base has a policy of making an official release when injuries are connected with missile testing operations.

The missile which exploded is believed to be a Thor. The explosion took place in the Thor area.

The Thor, an intermediate range missile developed by the Air Force, has been fired successfully only once. It has misfired on several occasions during testing here.

Residents along the beaches of Florida coastal towns nearby said they noted huge clouds of black smoke billowing from the Thor launching area shortly after the explosion.

Thought Girard Was Joking

MAEBASHI, Japan (UP)—A witness testified today he thought Spl-3 William S. Girard was joking when he shot at Japanese metal pickers the day the Illinois soldier shot and killed Mrs. Naka Sakai.

Gumpei Sakai (no relation to the dead woman) said at Girard's manslaughter trial that Girard fired at several other metal pickers on the morning of Jan. 30.

Girard fired an empty shell cartridge into Mrs. Sakai's back that afternoon while she was gathering shells at the Camp Weir firing range.

After taking Sakai's testimony, the court recessed until Saturday morning.

The prosecution announced it would recall to the stand its two key witnesses—Spl-3 Victor Nickel who was with Girard when Mrs. Sakai was shot, and Hidetsugu Onozeki, a Japanese shellpicker who was with Mrs. Sakai.

Their testimony was expected to be the finale of the prosecution's case.

The defense started showing its hand today when Girard's Japanese attorney cross-examined two prosecution witnesses, Isamu Shukuhara and Hatsuo Mihara, both of whom were on Chocolate Drop Hill.

WILLIAMSBURG AWAITS ROYAL VISIT — They're doing their heartiest sweeping, dusting and polishing job at Williamsburg, Va., for the visit of Britain's Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip (shown). These scenes from Williamsburg show the governor's palace and Susan Constant, 100-ton flagship of the three-vessel "fleet" which brought the first permanent English settlers to nearby Jamestown in 1607. This year is the 350th anniversary of arrival of those 105 founders. Royal itinerary: Ottawa Oct. 12-15; Williamsburg Oct. 16-17; Washington Oct. 17-19; New York Oct. 20-21.

Prince Philip Has Strong Voice When It Comes to Family Affairs

(Last of Five Dispatches)

By ROBERT MUSEL

LONDON (UP) — Elizabeth II may run the public side of the House of Windsor, but when it comes to family affairs the voice of Prince Philip is loud and clear.

It was partly his opposition that led Princess Margaret to break off with Group Capt. Peter Townsend after their spectacular courtship in October, 1955.

A lot of gush has been written about his romance but the truth, as her closest friends see it, is that Margaret never intended to marry the dashing war hero. She likes being a princess too much to exchange it for a divorced man with little money, two children and modest prospects.

But the little princess, a spinsterish 27, has a flair for the dramatic and is never as alive as she is when the papers are full of her activities. Some of her friends feared she might be carried away by the worldwide interest in the Townsend affair.

Thus Philip and other members of the family carefully kept the realities of the situation before her eyes. There are others in the royal circle besides Philip who feel that Townsend, 15 years older than Margaret, should never have let their original relationship flare up the way it did.

Philip had a problem even closer to home last January. For years some people have wondered about his frequent absences from Britain on trips of one sort and another. A few tried to read into this evidence that he was not perfectly happy with married life.

Such speculation generally dissolved into whispers that since Philip was obviously very attractive to women, he must have a girl friend or two. Occasionally the name of a girl—always beautiful and often an actress—would even be mentioned.

This sort of talk reached a peak during the Commonwealth tour and a British writer filed a dispatch to an American paper reporting that there were rumors of an actual rift between the prince and the Queen.

Naturally, the story was denied. The rumors might have been denied even if they were true. But the best available sources insist that Philip and Elizabeth lead a normal married life with the normal amount of quarrels. They are as happy as most couples in the 10th year of marriage.

Possibly the real if unexciting, reason for Philip's travel is that he is a sailor born and loves it.

In the most of the furore aroused by the reports of the alleged rift, Philip's best friend and private secretary, Lieut. Commander Michael Parker, resigned during the Commonwealth tour.

Tortuous efforts were made to link the resignation—a bitter blow to Philip—the rumored dissension in the royal family. Here again the truth is less inviting. Parker resigned simply because his wife announced they had parted and he did not want to drag his position through the divorce courts.

Parker is still very close to Philip. They spend much time together and Parker recently surveyed the route of an advanced motoring test which Philip was planning to take. It would surprise no one if Parker went back to the palace after the divorce.

Philip has a state allowance of $112,000 a year as husband of the Queen but those in charge of entertaining him in the United States should remember he prefers steak and potatoes to more exotic fare. He would also like to visit an American bowling alley.

When Elizabeth became Queen, Philip read through the papers of Prince Albert. There he found this quotation:

"A royal husband should entirely sink his existence in that of his wife. He should aim at no power, shun all contention and continuously and anxiously watch over every part of the public business in order to counsel and advise."

With this Philip apparently does not entirely agree. For his royal highness, the Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh, is already a personality and a force in his own right.

Man Slap Legal

TRENTON, N.J. (UP)—A woman may slap a man to stop him from cussing, the New Jersey Superior Court's Appellate Division ruled Wednesday. The court holding that the slapping of a man's face could "reasonably be expected" under such circumstances, awarded $4,700 in disability compensation to a petite waitress involved in a fight with a 225-pound, six - foot, two - inch chef.

A 69-year-old man was recently executed in Hungary for an offense allegedly committed against the then Hungarian Communist party in 1919—38 years after the event.

Erie Railroad Donates Property

CLEVELAND (UP) — The Erie Railroad today donated its passenger station and surrounding land to the borough government at Cambridge Springs, Pa., and agreed to become a tenant under a long term lease.

In a unique railroad-community relations agreement, the municipality obtained a centrally-located site for a new fire station, and the railroad agreed to rent a portion of the proposed building for a modern passenger station.

Erie President Harry W. Von Willer said there have been a number of cases where railroads have sold property to communities and became tenants but this is one of the rare instances where the building and land have been given outright to the municipal government.

Mollet Called on to Tackle Job in France

By ARTHUR L. HIGBEE

PARIS (UP) — President Rene Coty called on ex - Premier Guy Mollet today to become France's new premier and tackle the job of solving the crises at home and abroad.

Coty sent his limousine for the socialist leader after three days of consultations with his political experts.

Socialist sources said Mollet was anxious to take over and end the worst French political crisis since the war. However, they said he went to the presidential palace with a set of conditions that would make the right wing conservatives recoil.

Informed source said that if Mollet declined or failed to form a government, Coty would call next on former Premier Rene Pleven of the small Resistance Party.

New urgency was lent to Coty's search by the recall Thursday of Tunisia's ambassador to Paris. France already is harassed by conflict over Algeria, inflation and strikes.

Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba ordered his ambassador home in protest against alleged invasion of Tunisian territory by French troops pursuing Algerian nationalist rebels.

Bsurguiba said in Tunis that it was "no longer possible for Tunisia to have friendly relations with France." His government authorized nationwide "mass demonstrations" in protest against the mounting border incidents.

Still A Mystery

10 Years Good Enough Under Law, Court Says

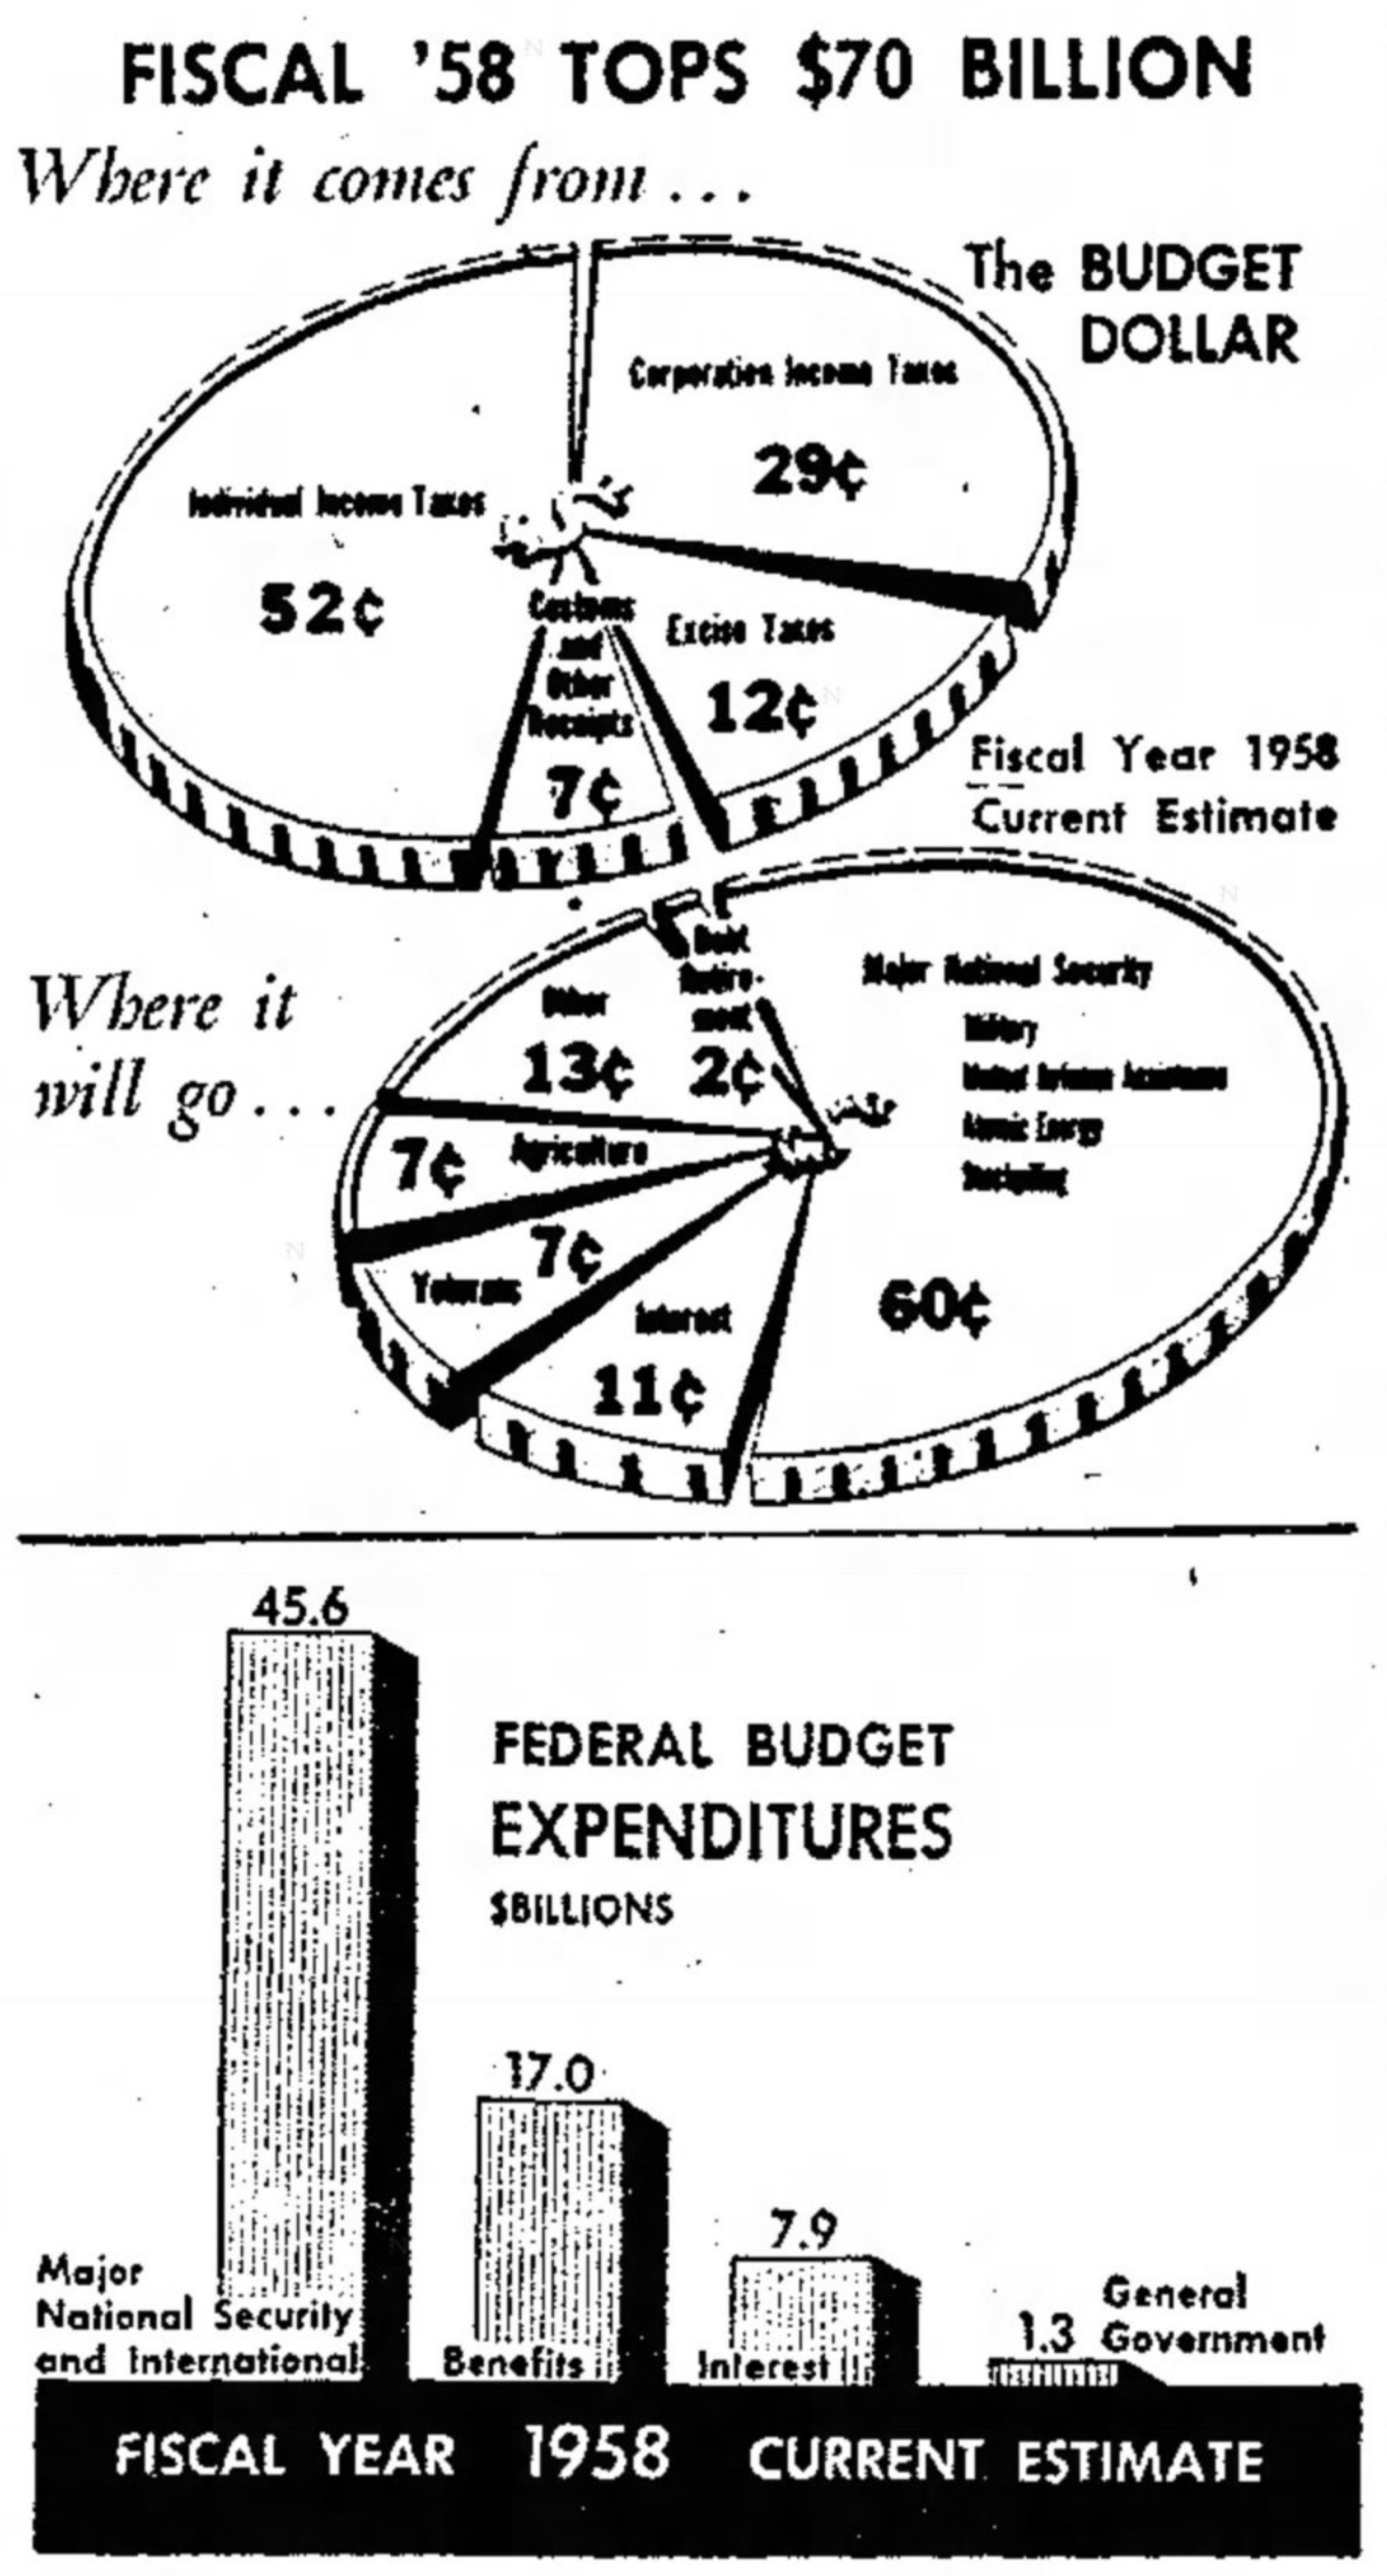
PHILADELPHIA (UP) — The Pennsylvania Superior Court ruled Wednesday that a woman who lives with a man for more than 10 years can be considered his wife in a compensation claim.

The ruling came on a claim of Margaret Rager, Johnstown, whose common-law husband, Ira, was killed accidentally last Sept. 22 while working at the Johnstown Traction Co.

The Traction company and the Pennsylvania Manufacturer's Casualty Insurance Co., had contested the award of workmen's compensation to Mrs. Rager on grounds she was not legally the widow.

The court in a 4- ruling, held that the woman was the legal widow under the state law.

The judge dissenting held that there was insufficient evidence showing that the couple performed the legal requirements of a common law marriage.



HERE ARE two charts issued by the budget bureau illustrating the federal budget for the fiscal year 1958. It tops $70 billion. and, as usual, is top heavy with defense cost.

Aluminum Production Expected to Double

CINCINNATI (UP)—The aluminum industry isn't worried about over-production despite the fact the immediate market demand has declined while capacity has increased 27 per cent this year, an industry executive said Thursday.

Ford Morrow of Kaiser Aluminum's Ravenswood, W. Va., plant said estimates of aluminum consumption "indicate the total tonnage of aluminum will again double" by 1965.

This will come about, he said, because with capacities and production ahead of immediate market demands the industry will be free to further expand the market. And, too, he continued, producers now know they can rely on having enough aluminum when needed.

Morrow told the 62nd annual meeting of the Ohio Valley Improvement Association the industry's capacity increased five-fold between 1940 and 1955—from 300,000 tons to 1,775,000 tons a year.

He said the nation's important industries, including building, transportation electrical and containers, now are considering new applications of aluminum.

As an example, he noted the average home built today contains 25 to 30 pounds of aluminum. This figure will sky-rocket to 1,500 to 2,500 pounds within a few years, while aluminum used in automobiles will increase from 40 pounds to as high as 400 pounds in the near future, he predicted.

Anti-Reds Celebrate Recognition by U. S.

SAN MARINO (UP)—The anti-Communists of San Marino today celebrated recognition of their government by the United States and the republic of the South Moluccas.

Christian Democratic leaders gathered in a partly - built iron foundry near the Italian border toasted the two countries with orange juice. The occasion was no less warm because none of them knew what or where the South Moluccas was.

Recognition from the South Moluccas, a part of the Indonesian archipelago which claims independence from Indonesia, came in a telegram addressed to "Christian Democratic Government, San Marino, Iron Foundry, San Marino."

Recognition by the United States was not so formal but it was just as effective.

U.S. Consul Dale Fisher sloshed down the muddy road to the iron works headquarters in his automobile Thursday and handed the Christian Democrats documents relating to the International Atomic Energy Agency statute.

He thus bypassed the Communist government ensconced in the government palace six miles away.

"In effect, this act amounts to U.S. recognition of the provisional government," he told reporters.

The Christian Democrats, spirits still buoyant after three days in the factory headquarters without running water or beds, said all they needed was recognition from a few more governments and they would march up the mountain to take the Communists by storm.

Memorials

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, H. K. Richardson, who died 15 years ago today, October 4, 1942.

He has gone from his dear ones,
His children, his wife,
Whom he willingly toiled for,
And loved as his life;
Oh, God, how mysterious and
How strange are Thy ways,
To take from us this loved one
In the best of his days.

Sadly missed by Wife and Daughters

In loving memory of our father and grandfather, Peter Eory, who died one year ago today, October 4, 1956.

Sad and sudden was the call
Of one so dearly loved by all;
A bitter grief; a shock severe.
It was to part with one so dear.
We often sit and think of you
And speak of how you died;
To think you could not say goodbye
Before you closed your eyes.
For all of us you did your best,
Oh, God, grant you eternal rest.

Sadly missed by Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Ciepiela and Family

In loving memory of our husband and father, Peter Eory who died one year ago today October 4, 1956.

Beyond the doubts and hopes and fears,
Beyond the cares and joys and tears,
Beyond the smiling and the weeping
Beyond the waking and the sleeping.
Our loved one rests in slumber deep,
In silent and eternal sleep.

Sadly missed by his wife, Mrs. Peter Eory and daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Nick Spirko.

In loving memory of our father and grandfather, Peter Eory, who died one year ago today October 4, 1956.

Broken is the family circle,
Our dear one has passed away,
Passed from earth and earthly darkness
Into a bright and perfect day.
But we all must cease to languish
O'er the grave of him we love,
Strive to be prepared to meet him,
In the better world above.

Sadly missed by his daughter Margaret, her husband, Emerson, and grandchildren

'In Sickness, Health'

MIAMI (UP) — A 56-year-old grandmother without legs and a blind man unable to walk took the vows of marriage here Wednesday, beaming happily from their wheelchairs as they promised to love one another "in sickness and in health."

Hazel Marlier of Pittsburgh and Edward Hurst, 59, of Milwaukee, were married as friends and a few relatives looked on. The ceremony ended as Hurst turned his wheelchair to the left and groped to kiss the wife he will never see.

The couple met in a nursing home here and said they had rooms across the hall. Chance conversation led to some dinner engagements together and three weeks ago Hurst proposed marriage.

The new Mrs. Hurst lost her first husband after 30 years of marriage in 1949. Her legs were later amputated because of diabetes.

Hurst, who lost his first wife after 20 years of marriage in 1952, was blinded by mustard gas in World War I in France and lost use of his legs after being struck by shrapnel.

Mrs Hurst said she has new artificial legs and is learning to walk on them.

"God brought us together," the bride said. "We need each other."

PUC to Probe Derailments

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Public Utility Commission today ordered an investigation and public hearings on trolley derailments on the Shannon-Drake-Library Route of the Pittsburgh Railways Co.

The transit firm has 20 days to answer the commission's order for the inquiry. The commission said hearings will start as soon as the company replies.

A commission check showed seven derailments on the route between July 16 and Sept. 1. Two persons were reported injured in the accidents.

The PUC said the inquiry is being made because it appears the line is "unsafe" due to "lack of adequate maintenance."

Your Health—

Heart Can Take Much Strain

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Your heart seems to do a little flip flop and you exclaim: "I think it skipped a beat!"

Or maybe you have a pain over the heart and you say to yourself bravely: "Well, this is it, a heart attack."

I suppose it's natural for a person to worry about something as important as his heart, but, in the vast majority of cases, neither of these incidents is anything to be very concerned about.

Rarely is pain in the left chest caused by heart disease. Usually the cause is too much air and muscular spasm in the digestive tract.

Actually heart pain is generally felt in the center of the chest and is a pressure or tightness.

As for your heart skipping a beat, well, so what? Most likely this is what we call a premature heart beat or a beat that comes between two regular beats. Alarming as it may sound, I'd say that almost all normal hearts have a premature beat occasionally although the heart's owner may not be aware of it.

Very seldom do such beats mean you have heart disease. While they can be caused by any number of things and do mean more heart irritability, they will never bring on heart disease no matter how frequent they become.

And in some cases they are both frequent and prolonged. Maybe there will be only one or two in a month. On the other hand, there may be several premature beats a minute. Perhaps the situation will last for years.

We have traced the source of these "extra beats" to such things as fatigue, influenza, sinus infections, even carbuncles.

Another common cause is an abcessed tooth.

The best thing to do when you notice a premature beat is to see your doctor. You'll want professional advice even if the only thing he does is to tell you that it is nothing to worry about. And this probably is the best advice in most cases.

Still, if the premature beats occur often enough to get you really worried, we have several drugs available to remedy the situation without any trouble or pain to you.

Just remember this: your heart is a tough old organ. It can take a lot more than you might think.

Question and Answer

J. C.: How may books be disinfected after having been handle by a person with a contagious disease?

Answer: Very little attention is paid to books as a possible means of spreading disease. Usually, it is best to air out, for at least 12 hours, everything in a room in which there has been a case of contagious disease. All articles should be exposed to the sunlight as much as possible.

However, if the infection is due to smallpox, the books and other articles should be destroyed.

In Hollywood—

Hitchcock Too Polite To Turn Down Offer

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Roly-poly Alfred Hitchcock, not content with one successful TV show and his movie director career, has launched another video spine-chiller, because "I was too polite to turn down the offer."

Alfred Hitchcock

Sitting in his office at Paramount Studios, Hitchcock, his hands folded across his ample waist looked like a benevolent Kewpie-doll. It's been five years since he's had a vacation from his desk.

"I don't mind the work," he said, flicking the ash from a dead cigar. "And I'm not particularly interested in a holiday. Nor am I undertaking the new show ('Suspicion') for monetary reasons. After all, I can eat only two lambchops a day."

Too Polite To Refuse

Why, then, is the doughty director taking on additional showu

"Revue Productions asked if I would mind producing 10 shows for their program with my own unit," he explained cheerfully. "And the truth is I was too polite to refuse."

Hitchcock was credited with having the best business deal in television. After the first showing of each of his programs the films revert to his ownership. Subsequent showings and releases abroad are money in the bank.

By the end of the season he will own 11 telefilms outright.

"We've begun releasing the series in France, Germany, England, Japan and Australia," he said. "But unfortunately I can't abuse the sponsor in England as I do here. The government won't allow it.

"Instead I must be satisfied with caustic introductions. But it's not the same thing at all, really. My heart isn't in it."

Many Have Tried

Many top screen directors have undertaken individual TV shows; some have attempted series. But in every case they produced king-sized eggs. Only Hitchcock has pressed to the top.

His own show, "Alfred Hitchcock Presents," is a CBS regular. The new one, with Dennis O'Keefe narrating, is an NBC entry. In addition to juggling the TV efforts, the pink - checked Englishman is directing Kim Novak and Jimmy Stewart in "From Amongst the Dead."

"Directing movies and TV takes two totally different types of thinking," he expounded. "A small screen needs no production finesse in things such as setting, lighting and costumes. On a 60-by-40 foot movie screen every detail must be perfect. Therefore, in a TV production I spend my money on players and story.

"I like both jobs," Hitchcock concluded. "And I hope to continue in both mediums as long as I have an appetite for lambchops."

Pat Boone Takes Over Sid's Suite

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP) — The channel swim . . .

The old order changeth: Pat Boone's new organization, "Cooga Mooga Inc." (Cooga Mooga is a Boone nonsense phrase), has taken over half of Sid Caesar's two-story office suite in Manhattan. Pat now works out in Caesar's old gym room with bar bells — once a favorite Caesar activity.

Mike Wallace's recent trip to Europe produced film interviews with Kirk Douglas and Otto Preminger. Danny Thomas' opening show on Oct. 7 will have Jack Benny in an unbilled walk-on. Ethel Merman will shoot her new TV series after the first of the year in California — Phil Silvers will supervise production.

Joan Caulfield, who was barely on speaking terms with Barry Nelson during their "My Favorite Husband" series, is finding her new NBC-TV "Sally" show a happy change of pace — Miss Caulfield gets along so well with her new co-star, Marion Lorne, that she chauffeurs Miss Lorne to work each morning.

Shucks dep't: Half of June Havoc's family won't be on camera tonight when Ed Murrow's "Person to Person" comes visiting her Manhattan home — five of Miss Havoc's 10 cats are sick and couldn't fly in from California. Cary Grant is the lead contender to emcee the Oscar TV derby next year.

Johnny Carson told this joke in a recent warm-up before his ABC-TV show, "Do you trust your wife": "You know why Ed Sullivan used me on his showu—Because I wasn't important enough to be introduced from his audience."

Hal March cut a rock 'n' roll record for Dot Records. Tony Marvin, Arthur Godfrey's announcer is in the disc biz, too—He's just turned out "Words and Music of Love" for Zodiac Records. Zodiac is owned by Lee Erwin who plays organ on the Godfrey morning show.

Jayne Meadows (Mrs. Steve Allen) expects the baby on Nov. 13 —They won't name it Ed. Erin O'Brien must be suffering from saddle sores—ABC has used her in filmings of "Cheyenne," "Maverick" and "Colt .45."

Milton Eisenhower, the President's brother, will emcee an entire "John Hopkins File 7" show on education, upcoming on ABC-TV in December. One of the co-creators of "Keep It in the Family," an ABC-TV quiz show that'll debut Oct. 12, is Leonard Stern, Steve Allen's chief writer.

"Zoomar," Ernie Kovacs' novel about the TV industry, should touch off a spate of guessing games around the industry when it comes out later this month—Some of the characters have real-life counterparts. George Sanders is going into a new filmed TV series — Something about a hard-crusted newsman with a golden-interior.

Sam Levenson received a large voice vote from members of the Teamsters Union recently when they were asked who they wanted to entertain them at their Miami Beach convention. Commented Sam: "Five more votes and I would have wound up a vice-president."

Steel Clubhouse

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (UP)—Police Wednesday halted the demolition of a $250,000 steel building and confiscated the wreckers' tools. Charles Weatherford, owner of the building, arrived to find three youngsters engaged in ripping corrugated iron from the structure. He said they told him the building had been vacant so long they didn't know anybody wanted it, and they could use the material for a new clubhouse.

76-year-old Farmer Wed to 14-year-old Girl

HERNANDO, Miss. (UP)—A 76-year-old farmer honeymooned today with the 14-year-old girl he married "because the Lord willed me to."

John G. Tatro, described as "exceptionally alert and full of vinegar," married Mary Lou Lawson Thursday in the presence of her parents. They headed back to Tatro's home in Zelma, Mo. They had made the trip to Mississippi so they could be married.

James P. Sandefur, Primitive Baptist minister and motel operator, performed the ceremony after the couple got a license in an adjoining county. The circuit clerk's office in Hernando had turned them down.

The wiry Tatro said he got lonely after his wife died last December.

"Then Mary Lou and I fell in love," he said. "I prayed 10 days and nights about this marriage. The Lord willed me to do it."

Sandefur said the bride was quiet and serious before the ceremony, but Tatro was smiling and talkative. "He is exceptionally alert and full of vinegar," the minister said.

Tatro was driving back to Zelma, his wife at his side and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Lawson, in the back seat.

Doctors Warned of Penicillin

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UP) — The Medical Society of the state of New York has found it necessary to warn doctors all over again that the "miracle drugs" against bacterial infections work harm, even death, as well as "miracles."

"Reports of the great variety of complications of anti-bacterial therapy, some of which are fatal seem to have made little impression on the physician," said a prominently displayed scientific paper in the society's technical journal.

That idea of a lack of an impression on doctors was taken from the fact that "the annual production of penicillin, sulfonamides, and tetracyclines is measured by tonnage, and the cost to the patient is huge," said the paper prepared by Dr Gerald Eastman of the State University of New York Medical School, Syracuse.

"It can be presumed that most prescriptions are unnecessary," continued Dr Eastman "For example, the common cold, the 'flu,' and similar viral diseases and undiagnosed fevers are still treated commonly and unnecessarily with these drugs."

The tetracyclines are the so-called "broad spectrum" antibiotics which kill bacteria indiscriminately, including many which are indispensable to the proper function of the human body. In contrast, such antibiotics as penicillin and streptomycin are active against a limited number and those, in the main, sickening bacteria.

Dr. Eastman, without in any way diminishing the miracle-working abilities of the drugs when properly used against bacterial infections, itemized their complications. These "undesirable side-effects" he classified as (1) "The purely allergic" (rashes, hives, fever, etc) (2) the "toxic and metabolic" (such as temporary damage to specific nerves) and (3) the "ill effects" when the essential bacteria of the intestinal tract, for instance, get slaughtered by an antibiotic.

It should be understood that these complications do not appear in even a majority of the persons who are treated with antibiotics or with the sulfa drugs (the "sulfonamides"). Dr. Eastman's point was that they appear frequently enough to make it wise for the physician to use them only when he is positive that bacteria within their killing power, are at the root of the illness under treatment.

"No drugs now available are completely free of these effects, nor is any future new drug likely to be so," he said. "Even if such a theoretical allergy-free and toxicity-free substance were produced, the very fact of its anti-bacterial action would cause undesirable effects.

"With any new treatment for any disease an initial period of overzealous enthusiasm for its use generally occurs. Inevitably, later on a new therapy comes to be regarded with sober conservatism and used only in its proper place. The same evaluation must eventually occur in the field of anti-bacterial therapy, for it is apparent that these drugs are not harmless."

Gas Co. Asks Rate Increase In Area Counties

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Carnegie Natural Gas Co., Pittsburgh, has proposed an estimated $302,000 annual increase, effective Dec 1.

The major share of the boost would be paid by United States Steel Corp., the parent firm.

U. S. Steel's industrial rates would go up $242,265 annually and bills of 2,704 residential consumers in Allegheny, Greene and Washington counties would be hiked $59,739 under a new schedule filed with the Public Utility Commission.

Carnegie requested permission to raise residential rates from 50 to 60 cents per 1,000 cubic feet. The steel corporation's charges would be boosted from 40 to 43 cents per 1,000 cubic feet. The utility said it needed the additional revenue to meet higher costs of wholesale gas purchased from suppliers and other increased costs.
